GREAT ARMY FROM INDIA DISEMBARKS AT MARSEILLES

Sikhs and Other Native Troops, Filling a Score of Transports, in Best Condition and Eager to Fight—Feared War Would End Before They Arrived.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The landing of a large army of native Indian troops in Marseilles, which is likely to be one of the most historically notable events of this war, and which is taken as proof of the solidarity of the British Empire, is described by the Marseilles correspondent of the Daily Mail. His dispatch, dated last Saturday, which was delayed by the censor, is as follows:

"To see fully a score of transports glide from the bay into the dock and moor at their appointed stations was an imposing sight, and the same time a splendid tribute to the perfection of British organization. But the grand spectacle was yet to come. In almost as short a space of time as it takes to tell it the decks of this wonderful fleet of ships were alive with soldiers and in a matter of a few hours the trying work of disembarkation had been completed without slip or accident.

"The French officers were amazed at the remarkable smoothness with which the operation proceeded, and were not slow in their expressions of profound admiration.

"The voyage from India had been made under excellent conditions, and the troops, who literally leaped ashore, were fighting men to the last ounce, hard, fit and ready. Had the word of command been given to march straight from the quay to the fighting line they were ready to go.

"A few of the Sikhs, little, black-skinned giants, were deeply concerned to know if I thought that the war would ever before they could get to grips with the common enemy, and it was a relief to find that they were not. I am sure there was absolutely no likelihood of anything of the kind coming to pass.

"Never has the port of Marseilles, used as it is to cosmopolitan crowds and the multicolored habiliments of Africa, witnessed a scene so kaleidoscopic as that presented today by the defiling thousands after thousands of soldiers down seemingly numberless gangways and along quays lit by brilliant sunshine.

"All the troops are in khaki, with very little—perhaps a green or a white—interwoven band in the headress—to distinguish one regiment, or rather one caste, from another. The stuff is lighter in texture and color than that used in the equipment of the home army, and imparts a smarter appearance to the wearer.

"The white officers in command are of the higher type of soldier, and there was something noble and delightful in the officers walking through Marseilles with their troops, en route to the rest camps, when they might have ridden.

"One very important fact that must not be lost sight of is that this great expeditionary force from the Orient is modernly trained according to the most modern ideas, and equipped with first-class machinery of war. Everything has been brought from India, cannon, rifles, entrenching implements, sleeping rugs, tents and the hundred and one necessities of an Indian army, down to the praying mat.

"The scene in town, when the troops marched through to the different camping grounds, was unforgettable. Every man, woman and child in Marseilles turned out, and their numbers were swelled by people who had rushed in from the surrounding country districts. The streets were seething masses of highly excited humanity.

King George's Message to Indian Troops

LONDON, Oct. 2.

KING GEORGE, according to a Marseilles dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, sent messages of greeting to the native Indian and British-Indian troops on their arrival in France. The message to the native troops, which was in Hindi, was:

"I look to all my Indian soldiers to uphold the honor of the British Raj (rule) against an aggressive and relentless army. I know with what readiness my brave and loyal Indian soldiers are prepared to fulfill this sacred trust on the field of battle, shoulder to shoulder with their comrades from all parts of the empire.

"Rest assured that you will always be in my thoughts and prayers. I bid you to go forward and add fresh luster to the glorious achievements and noble traditions of courage and chivalry of my Indian army, whose honor and fame are in your hands."

these magnificent fighting men from Britain's great dominion."

The correspondent adds that at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning the Indian troops were presented by their commander before the General commanding the forces in the region. They were afterwards marched through the city, their splendid bearing being the subject of universal admiration, and they were enthusiastically cheered.

New Russian Gun Said to Be

Match for the "Busy Bertha"

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Chronicle says: "Great German guns which now are making their difficult way back over the marshes to the north and south of Suwalki, met their match. During the fighting on the Niemen there appeared for the first time a new pattern of Russian gun of large caliber and considerable mobility. It is a product of the famous Putiloff works.

"Artillery experts who watched its performance are satisfied it is equal in power and effect to anything the Germans have shown on the Prussian frontier. Near (name deleted by censor) new guns silenced the German batteries within 10 minutes, and the German guns were afterward abandoned on their position."

General Staff Announces That Forces Which Were Attacking Ossowetz Are Retreating to North, and Russian Cavalry Is Impeding Enemy's Movements.

FORCES MERGE IN CRACOW DISTRICT

Battle Proceeds Over Extensive Front and Petrograd Declares Advance of Czar's Troops Meets With Success Everywhere.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—It is officially announced at Vienna, according to a Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., that the Austro-German army concentrated at Cracow numbers 250,000.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—The Rome correspondent of the Havas Agency says a dispatch from Petrograd to the Giornale D'Italia states that in the great battle which is imminent in the region of Cracow, Galicia, the Russian strength will be 1,000,000 men with powerful artillery under the command of Generals Puzsky, Brussloff and Dimitrieff.

Four corps of Bavarians and Saxons have reinforced the Austrians, for the purpose of attempting to prevent the Russians from invading Silesia, adds the dispatch. The Austrian and German forces have been placed under the command of Gen. von Hindenberg, who has been recalled from East Prussia.

RUSSIANS DRIVE BACK GERMANS

General Staff Announces That Forces Which Attacked Ossowetz Are Retreating.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 2.—The general staff has given out the following official communication:

"The Russian troops have continued to repulse the enemy from the frontiers of the governments of Suwalki and Lomza (bordering on Germany). The engagement has been very fierce west of Symno.

"The German troops that were attacking Ossowetz are retreating hastily to the north. Considerable forces of the enemy, of which the bulk arrive from the west, are concentrating in the districts west of the governments of Piotrkow and Kielce (near Cracow, Galicia).

"The Russian cavalry and vanguard are reconnoitering energetically through all that region, impeding, through vigorous attacks, the movement of the enemy. The Germans always endeavor to use the highways in Russian territory because the other roads, being rough, paralyze their artillery trains.

"German Infantry Surprised. "An attack by the Russian cavalry against the German vanguard in front of Androw, and marching on Kielce, was crowned with great success. The German infantry was caught unawares and is retreating in disorder, pursued by the Russian cavalry.

"The bombardment of Ossowetz did damage to only a few private dwellings and a few telephone lines, as the garrison was sheltered by numerous concrete walls.

"The offensive by the Russian troops marching through the forests of Augustow was not covered by the artillery. South of Augustow a hand-to-hand engagement took place. It was particularly fierce in the semi-circle between the Bialobroze basin, which was crossed by a Russian column, and the Augustow Canal near the Borki basin. The issue of this engagement was decided by an attack from Augustow.

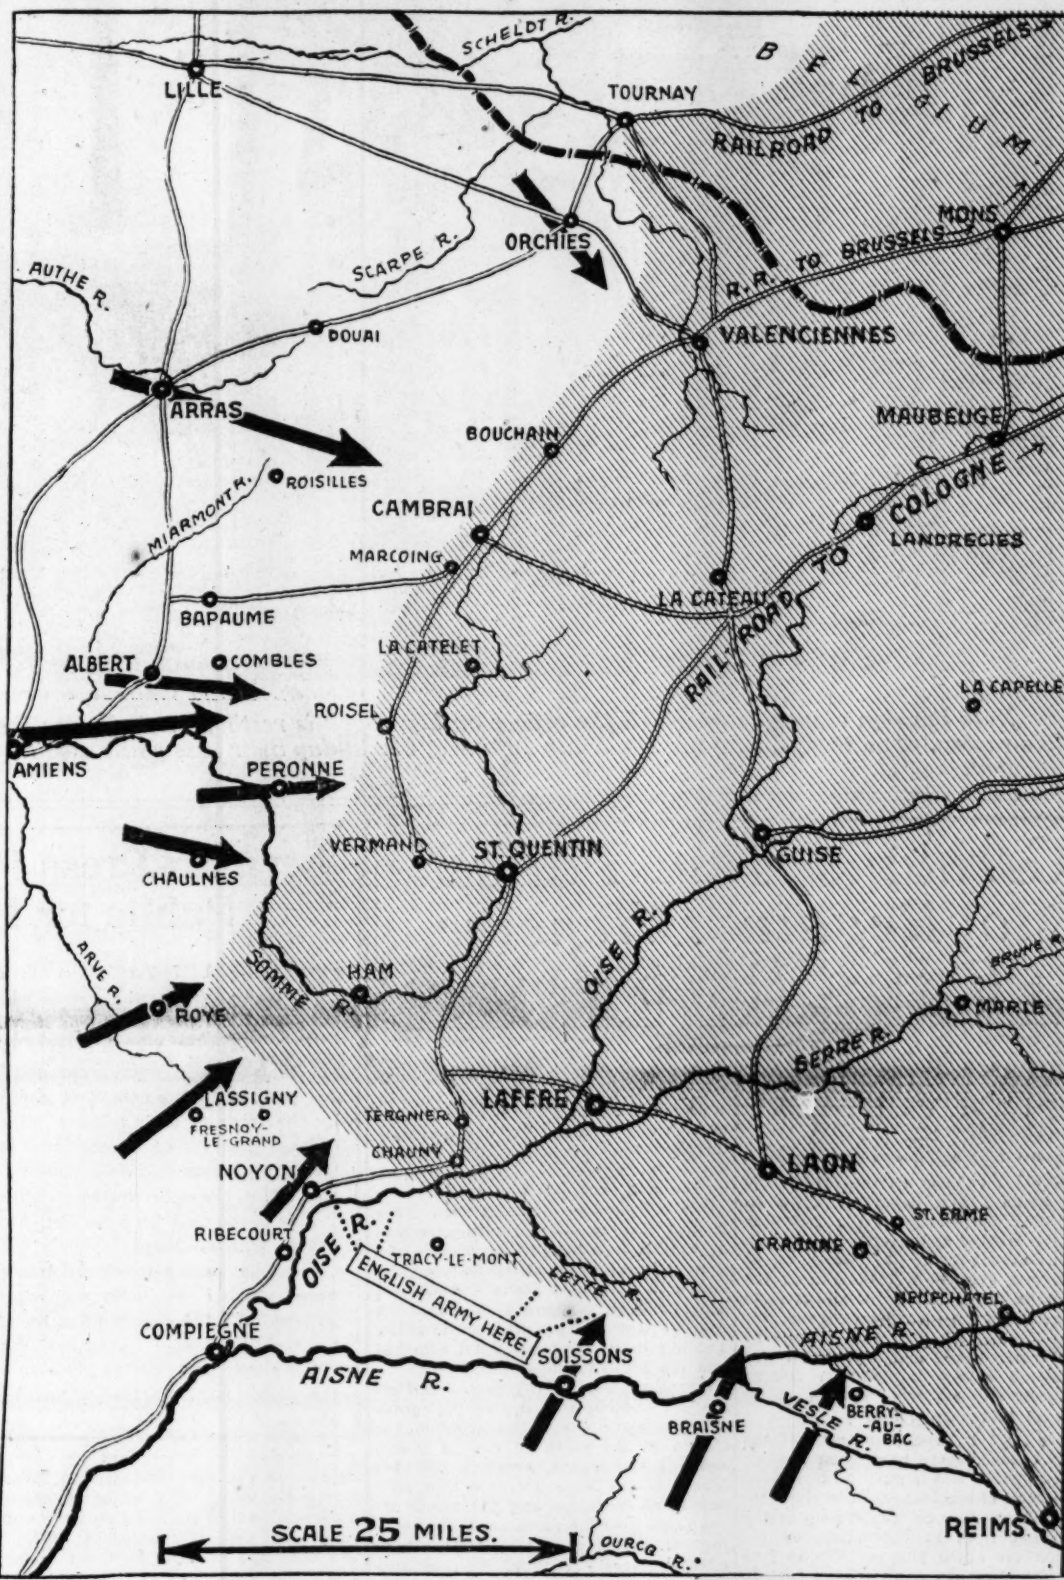

Russians Attack Through Defiles.

"Northwest of the forest of Augustow the Russians were compelled to attack the rear guard of the Germans through numerous defiles and in fortified positions, where the Russian infantry received great help from its heavy artillery, which dealt great losses to the enemy, who were dislodged from the entrenchments and retired under our fire.

"The battle is proceeding over an extensive front, the Germans occupying Arrows indicate bases of allies' assaults. These show that the invaders are being attacked in force upon two sides, while the northernmost columns of French, at Orchies and Arras are dangerously near to the precious railroad line of defense, to cut which will bring them upon the rear of the main body of the German right wing.

CREW REMOVED, THEN BRITISH SHIP IS SENT TO BOTTOM

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—First-hand tales of the sinking of the Houston Line steamer Hyades (British) outside Pernambuco Aug. 15, by the German cruiser Dresden, reached New York today with the arrival here of the steamer Hyades from Liverpool.

Among the crew of the Hyades were several sailors who had been aboard the Hyades when she was captured by the Dresden. These sailors said that while the Hyades was in port at Pernambuco, the time of her departure was made known to the Dresden, which was waiting outside, although out of sight.

When the Hyades reached the open sea she was stopped by the Dresden. A prize crew was sent aboard, and the Hyades' crew taken off. After the prize crew had removed from the Hyades what they thought most desirable, the Dresden's guns sent her to the bottom.

According to Chief Steward Douglas Duncan of the Hyades, who held the same office on the Hyades, it required 43 shots, fired at a range of less than half a mile, to send the ship to the bottom. Ten shots were fired by the Germans, he said, before they succeeded in hitting the boat and the eleventh struck an awning spar.

The crew, after being taken from the Hyades was placed aboard the Hamburg-American line steamship, Prussia, and sent to Rio Janeiro. On

Kaiser Travels From Front to Front in a Ten-Car Train

ROME, via Paris, Oct. 2. EMPEROR WILLIAM, says a telegram from Berlin, is going from one front to another. He travels in a special train of ten Pullman cars, white and blue, but which now have been repainted like the ordinary cars to protect the train from the bombs of the French aviators.

landing all their personal belongings that had been taken from them were restored. Duncan told the following story of the capture and sinking of the ship:

"We left Montevideo Aug. 1, with a cargo of corn destined to Rotterdam. Eight days later we learned that war existed between Germany and England. We were advised by the British cruiser Glasgow, to go into Pernambuco. We did so. After lying in the harbor for three days we were informed that the way was clear and we again put to sea. Twenty-two hours after sailing we sighted the German cruiser Dresden, conveying the Prussia, and bearing down upon us. We immediately stopped and officers from the cruiser came aboard and said that they were compelled to sink us as we had contraband of war. We were transferred to the Prussia and stood on her decks. The Dresden then opened fire. The Hyades went down with her colors flying."

FRENCHMAN SHOT BY FIRING SQUAD; DISDAINS MASK

By Associated Press.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 2.—Pierre Nasica was put to death today for "military reasons." It was the first execution under military law at the temporary capital.

Nasica faced the end bravely. As he stepped from the automobile patrol wagon that took him to the Arzac Parade Ground, he was rolling a cigarette which he smoked while he listened to the reading of his sentence. Then he shook hands with the chaplain, and, stooping briskly to the execution post, folded his arms and looked straight at the firing squad. He refused to have his eyes bandaged. At a sharp command a volley sounded. Nasica sank to his knees dead. Detachments from all the regiments of the Bordeaux garrison witnessed the execution, and when it was over defiled past the body.

Invaders Throw Bridge Across the Meuse at St. Mihiel; French Guns Destroy It—Royce Scene of Heaviest Fighting.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PARIS, Oct. 2, 3:12 p. m.—An official statement issued by the War Office says that terrific fighting continues incessantly near Royce, where the Germans have been strongly reinforced.

The statement says:

"On our left wing the battle continues with terrific fighting, notably in the region of Royce, where the Germans appear to have concentrated important reinforcements. The action extends more and more toward the north.

"The front of the battle line is now extended into the region to the south of Arras.

"Upon the Meuse the Germans attempted at night to throw a bridge across the river near St. Mihiel. The bridge was destroyed by our guns.

"In the Woivre district our offensive progresses step by step, notably in the region between Apremont and St. Mihiel.

"On the remainder of the front there have been attempted only partial operations here and there."

England to Put Mines in Sea

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The official information bureau announced today that the Government had decided to lay mines in certain areas as a counter-stroke to the German procedure.

Berlin Reports Continue Optimistic

BERLIN, Oct. 2, by wireless to Sayville, L. I.—According to announcement made in Berlin today, the great battle in France is still undecided. The Germans are described as hammering the French positions at numerous points by their heavy artillery. The attempts of the allies to break through the German lines have been repulsed. The heaviest losses have been in the Argonne region.

The Germans continue to make steady progress.

In the fighting before Antwerp the German artillery has silenced two of the Belgian forts. German troops captured 30 aeroplanes sent from France to Belgium.

In the eastern arena of the war the Russian offensive movement from the Niemen River against the Germans in the Province of Suwalki, is declared to have failed. It is officially reported that the Russian fortress at Ossowetz, in Russian Poland was bombarded by the Germans until Sept. 25.

The fighting in France, the siege of Antwerp and the offensive operations under Gen. von Hindenberg, all going on at the same time, are taken in England to indicate that the German army is not lacking in men.

A statement given out in Berlin says there are about 2000 Russian officers, including 18 Generals, being held as prisoners of war in the various detention camps in Germany.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A Berlin dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Co., by way of Amsterdam, says:

"Official headquarters this evening announces that the heights of Royce and Fresnoy-le-Grand, northwest of Noyon, were taken on Sept. 30. South of St. Mihiel, the announcement continues, French attacks from Toul were repulsed on Thursday, with severe losses to the French. The attack on Antwerp continues successfully. The situation in the eastern war theaters remains unchanged."

England Much Cheered by Landing of Indian Army in France

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Unless all signs are awry, the German armies in France, or at any rate most of them, are nearing the completion of their round trip. This, it is held here, is the only conclusion—hinted at even by the Berlin newspapers—to be drawn from the reports, both official or unofficial, or those on or near the scene of action.

It is evident that the progress of the allies on their left is considerable, while the hole through which the Germans mi-pierced the line of French fortresses on the Meuse River side has been stopped.

French Seem to Have Won Battle Near Noyon.

The fierce battling around the heights of Roye to the north-west of Noyon seems to have ended in favor of the French. The heights were captured by Gen. von Kluck's men on Wednesday, but on Friday, according to a French report, the allies regained control of the position.

Though all reports agree that the German right in France has been bent back, the cautious tone of the brief official statements indicate that the battle of the Aisne is not decided and the British public, showing the patience that has characterized their manner since the outbreak of hostilities, find a sentimental stimulus in the safe arrival of the fine Indian contingent on French soil and the bull-terrier-like resistance of the Antwerpians, who, headed by their king, seek to check the German besiegers.

Whether two forts have fallen near Antwerp as the Germans insist, or whether the Belgians have so far repulsed the artillery onslaught, it is a matter of conjecture here.

In a dispatch from Amsterdam the correspondent of the Central News says advice reaching there today from Brussels set forth that there is every reason to anticipate the early withdrawal of the Germans from the Belgian capital. Wounded men are being sent back to Germany, he says, and the German official documents are being packed up.

The correspondent says he has learned from a good source that the German General Staff has left Luxembourg in 80 motor cars for Mainz.

The London papers, both editorially and in their news columns, embellished with pictures, make a feature of the landing of the Indian troops and congratulate the War Office on the successful feat of moving many transports from India without a single loss. Editorially, the press emphasizes the spirit of patriotism of the Indians, which answers once for all, they say, all foreign critics who maintained that in time of stress the Indians would prove unfaithful.

Only guesses can be hazarded on the strength of the Indian forces and their disposition until the censor lifts the veil.

Whether the allies or the Germans hold St. Mihiel, between Verdun and Toul, is still undisclosed by the official statements from either side, nor is the situation around the Heights of Roye on the French left clearly defined.

There is now little doubt that advance guards of the allies have been sent all the way to the Belgian frontier. The official reports from Berlin admit a battle at Orchies, only a few miles within French territory, and on a line between Valenciennes and Lille.

One report has reached here that German scouts have been captured by British and French outposts near Valenciennes. If that is true, then there is every reason to expect a tremendous bearing upon the extended German lines running through Cambrai, Peronne, Chaumes and Roye and then turning almost at right angles to the east through the territory just south of the La Fere-Laon region.

It is believed that the Germans have already prepared for the retreat of von Kluck's forces, as German troops have retreated from the north of France toward Tournai and Mons.

A dispatch from Venice to the Daily Mail reports that the allied fleet has begun operations against Pola, the chief naval station of Austria-Hungary.

A. Jansen, telegraphing from Liege, says:

"The Germans are getting ready for a retreat through Belgium. On my way here I saw trenches everywhere. Villages are surrounded by barbed wire and the roadways are similarly guarded. Suppers are working everywhere, but they are especially busy around Liege itself."

Prussian Guard Regiment Is Sacrificed to Save Column

By Associated Press.
BORDAUX, Oct. 2, 5 p. m.—The defeat of 15,000 Prussian Guards, who attacked the French center, Sept. 26, is described today in the Petit Girondin.

As soon as news of the German advance was received, French cavalry was sent to hold the enemy at Aubert. The Department of Marne, to give the artillery and infantry time to come up from Soissons, near Aubert. But while the French dragons were preparing for the defense of Aubert, a brigade of Death's Head Hussars, avoiding the village, came across the vineyards and fields, with the intention of surprising the French artillery on the march.

It was a critical moment. The French dragons were two miles ahead of, and the infantry two miles behind, the guns, who were in danger of being severed across their guns. The Hussars were only three-quarters of a mile away, galloping furiously. In two minutes the guns were unlimbered and lined up along the road. The enemy then was only 500 yards away, and the command could be heard to prepare to charge the guns.

In the charge the Prussian cavalry gathered speed with every yard. When they were two hundred yards away the French guns aimed and there was a flash of fire. Through the blue smoke the artillerymen could see the enemy's horses rearing and officers trying vainly to rally the broken lines.

A second time the battery hurled death into the doomed brigade. A great silence succeeded the thunder of hoofs and the shouting of men. Two thousand horsemen lay as if struck by lightning. Here and there a wounded horse struggled to shake himself clear from the heap of dead. But the artillerymen did not wait to

Germans Have Failed to Regain Offensive, Expert Demonstrates

By the Military Expert of the New York Evening Sun.
Published in St. Louis Exclusively by Special Arrangement With the Sun.

ACTUAL fighting on the line of the Aisne began Saturday, Sept. 12, near Soissons. On the following day the British and French before and about Soissons forced the passage of the river, and effected a lodgment on the first hills above the town, which form the southern edge of the Craonne plateau. Further advance was checked by the German heavy artillery, which was discovered solidly placed on cement platforms and protected by a maze of trenches and earthworks.

Since Sept. 12, when the battle of the Aisne opened, there have been a number of phases which have in turn been the central circumstances in terrific conflicts. They may be summed up in the statement that, at the outset of the conflict the allied purpose was to prevent the Germans from taking root in France about the Champagne Hills; this having failed, there followed more struggles, provoked by the efforts of the Germans, having reorganized their forces after retreat, to retake the offensive and resume their march to Paris.

In these earlier phases, there was terrific fighting north and east of Soissons, on the Craonne Plateau and about Rheims. In their attempt the Germans, like the allies, failed, and in the operation two parallel lines of entrenchments, from the Oise to the Meuse, were stretched straight across Northern France.

Noyon Forts a Check.
The next major operation, beginning about 10 days ago, was the French thrust at von Kluck's right flank. In the pursuit of the Germans from the Marne the army of Paris had been on von Kluck's right flank until it reached Noyon. Here fortifications on the Noyon Hills and along the Somme in front of St. Quentin and Peronne temporarily checked the flanking movement. Further delay was caused by the condition of the roads.

This operation was not abandoned, however, and last week London dispatches described the advance of the French, coming around by the lower Somme, through Amiens, and then turning east toward St. Quentin, Le Cateau and Roisel, to all of which they are described as having advanced. Reaching these towns, they were squarely on one line of the railways supplying von Kluck, and were stretching out toward the second, and, in fact, the life line, of the Germans descending from Belgium to Laon. Could this advantage be pressed, it was clear von Kluck would be cut off from Western Belgium, driven east toward von Buelow's army, and away from his line of supplies.

Germans Took Offensive.
But at this point the Germans, bringing up new army corps, took the offensive vigorously from Noyon to Le Cateau and drove the allies back upon Amiens, Albert and beyond Bapaume on the west, while an offensive from Noyon pushed the allied forces before the town beyond Laon, which had been captured by the allies, and back upon Roye to the west and Rethel to the south. In sum, this German operation temporarily blocked the great flanking move of the allies and gained from 20

German Press Preparing Public for Possible Reverses

ROTTERDAM, Holland, Oct. 2.
THE BERLIN TAGEBLATT, one of the most influential German newspapers, copies of which have been received here, suggests that the German troops in France are in a difficult position.

"The extensive French attacks on our flanks," the paper says, "are not calculated to relieve our anxiety. The influence of the English masses of troops are being felt more and more. They are working through by the force of their masses. They do not stop, either. The French defense deserves commendation. It has taught a lesson to everybody who expected an easy task, but the victory must be ours. The more difficult it is, the more worthy it will be."

This is the first time the German papers have referred to the English except with contempt.

There has been a wonderful transformation in the tone of the German press, which is obviously preparing the public for possible reverses in France. All the papers print an official message, which remarks that the fighting around Noyon has reached unheard-of proportions, adding:

"We may be forced to abandon some points of small importance, but the people must reserve judgment until the result of the operations is known."

BALLOONS DIRECT HUGE GERMAN GUNS POUNDING ANTWERP

Post-Dispatch Correspondent on Scene Tells of Great Destruction Done by Shells Hurling Seven Miles—Hospitals Swamped With Wounded and Ambulance Service Is Inadequate.

BY E. ALEXANDER POWELL.
A Staff Correspondent of the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.

ANTWERP, Oct. 2.—The long anticipated attempt to capture Antwerp evidently is on in earnest. The Germans have been bombarding the forts at Lierre, St. Catherine and Waelheim with 30-centimeter (12-inch) guns, and with terrible effect, since early Wednesday morning. These gigantic siege pieces have a considerable greater range than any weapon the Belgians possess and are operated from positions of comparative safety. The forts at Lierre, St. Catherine and Waelheim form the southern segment of Antwerp's outer circle of fortifications.

The Belgian General Staff believes these same guns were used against the forts at Liege with such terrible effect. Guns this size can be fired only from specially prepared concrete bases. These bases evidently have been constructed in the last month behind the embankment of the railway which runs from Termonde through Malines to Louvain. This would account for the tenacity with which the Germans held this railway in the face of repeated attempts to dislodge them.

German Range Seven Miles.
The Germans, who were using shells loaded with some high explosive similar to lyddite, but possessing far greater destructive properties, pounded the forts as steadily and as remorselessly as a trip-hammer pounds a bar of iron.

They were firing at a range of nearly seven miles, while the heaviest Belgian ordnance is not effective at more than six. The German fire was far greater than that of the Belgians, and the latter were forced to abandon some points of small importance, but the people must reserve judgment until the result of the operations is known."

The scene presented between Waelheim and Malines was impressive and awesome beyond description. Against a livid sky arose columns of smoke from burning villages. The air was filled with bursting shells and shrieking shrapnel. The deep-mouthed roar of the guns in the forts and the angry bark of the Belgian field batteries was answered at intervals by the shattering crash of the exploding German shells.

Antwerp Artillery Duel Continues; Zeppelin Drops Bomb Near Fort

By Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 2.—A dispatch from Antwerp to the Reuter Telegram Co. says that a Zeppelin was reported last night successively over Moll, Rethy, Turnhout, Bourg-Leopold, Merxplas, Corstmaile and West Malie at 3:30 in the morning it dropped bombs near Fort Brochem without serious damage.

It then approached Antwerp, but was put to flight by the forts.

All night the Germans bombarded the fortresses of Antwerp, the dispatch continues, but the forts replied vigorously and proved they were still intact.

This morning (Thursday) the artillery duel continued all along the front and the Germans, having again ventured into Malines, the Belgian troops bombarded the town. Fort Waelheim was the object of a particularly severe cannonading. At Rumpst the Belgians were ordered to engage in independent firing. This lasted two and a half hours, the dispatch says, and the Germans retired in disorder, leaving an enormous number of dead and wounded.

Germans Repulsed at Scheldt.
One of the Daily Telegraph correspondents in Belgium, writing under date of Wednesday, has sent the following:

"Before the Germans can press home an attack against Antwerp they have a formidable obstacle to overcome—they must cross the Scheldt River. Again and again they have made the attempt, but every effort has been repulsed. Three times they tried to cross the river at Termonde, but each time a hail of Belgian lead from mitrailleuses and rifles sent them staggering back from their pontoons.

"In another section of the battle Termonde was the center of action. Here the Germans mounted mitrailleuses in a tower of the only remaining church, compelling the Belgian gunners to turn their artillery against the forlorn house of worship. The Belgians' second round hit the steeple squarely. The building burst into flames and the mitrailleuses were silenced forever.

"The German field force which occupied Termonde when the Belgians evacuated it two days ago was composed of land troops and marines with batteries and quick firing."

The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, writing from Antwerp under date of Thursday night, says:

"From the top of a gas tank at Hebbek (three miles southwest of Antwerp), last night, was witnessed a scene of somber grandeur. The line of attack on the city was defined in the clear night air very sharply by flashes of the enemy's great siege guns. Similarly the line of defense was shown in points of light which stabbed the night from the Belgian forts. It was almost possible occasionally to see the effect of the falling shells.

Roads Choked With Refugees.
"The artillery duel continued through the night. The German fire seemed to be directed chiefly toward emptying the outlying villages and every road into Antwerp was choked with refugees.

"The Belgians have suffered in some quarters, while in others they have inflicted loss. The general balance inspires confidence.

"All scouting officers agree, however, that the German attack is merely a demonstration, which is not intended to be pushed home. Belgian aviators have not uncovered any great masses of German infantry."

King Is Observation Balloon.
An Antwerp dispatch to the Daily Mail says:

"King Albert is to be seen constantly in the danger zone. He is reported to have ascended yesterday in a balloon to survey the operations. The enemy shelled the balloon, but the shells fell short.

"In attacking the gap between the Liezele and Bredendonk forts, the Germans made their first acquaintance with the surprise defense works. Many of them were electrocuted on touching the barbed wire entanglements."

PARIS AGAIN GAY, SHOPS REOPENING, R. H. DAVIS SAYS

Crowds Again Promenade in Boulevards and Champs Elysee Is Filled With Playing Children Like It Was Before Germans Approached—Women Manage Important Businesses—Work of Americans in Hospital at Neuilly Is Praised.

By Richard Harding Davis.

PARIS, via London, Oct. 1.—Paris is herself again, or nearly so. Those who were suddenly called away on business to Bordeaux or London are back. By a fortunate coincidence each of them was able to wind up his affairs and return the day after the Germans were pushed across the Aisne three weeks ago. When I first arrived here, Paris was as desolate as Philadelphia on a rainy Sunday. But today the boulevards are as crowded as the Atlantic City board walk in July. This is true not only in the show places, but over all the city. Yesterday I walked to the American hospital at Neuilly, and the café on both sides of Avenue Grand Armée were crowded and every shop was open. Sunday it was impossible to guess from where all the people who blocked the boulevards came and where they had been hidden. When the Germans were within ten miles of Paris you could count the people you saw on the boulevards on both hands, and half of them were Germans. But on Sunday they overflowed from sidewalks into the street; whole families were promenading, old people, young people, all in their best of dress.

They have been keeping themselves in a mystery. We have seen no signs of the returning prodigals, no cabs piled high with luggage, no porters bringing hand baggage. As suddenly as they vanished, they are returning. With customers and no Germans to fear, the shops along the rue de la Paix are beginning to open and, as in spring, when each morning a new flower opens its petals and greets you, so now in that famous thoroughfare where were black iron shutters, the window blooms with robes, mantles or diamond tiaras. To help competition they came none too soon. For weeks we have had to buy all our diamond tiaras at one shop.

Children Again Seen at Play. The thing you missed perhaps most were the children in Avenue Champs Elysee. For generations over that part of the public garden the children have held sway. They knew it belonged to them and into the gravel walks they drove their tin spades with the same sense of ownership as at Deauville, where they dig up the shore. Their straw hats and bare legs, their Normandy nurses with enormous head dresses, blue for a boy and pink for a girl, were one of the most familiar sights of Paris, and when they vanished they left a dreary wilderness.

For a mile from Place de Concorde to Arc de Triomphe you could look and see a child. Stalls where they bought hoops and skipping ropes, the flying wooden horses, Punch and Judy shows, booths where with milk they refreshed themselves and with bonbons made themselves ill, all were deserted and boarded up as desolate as the summer resort in February.

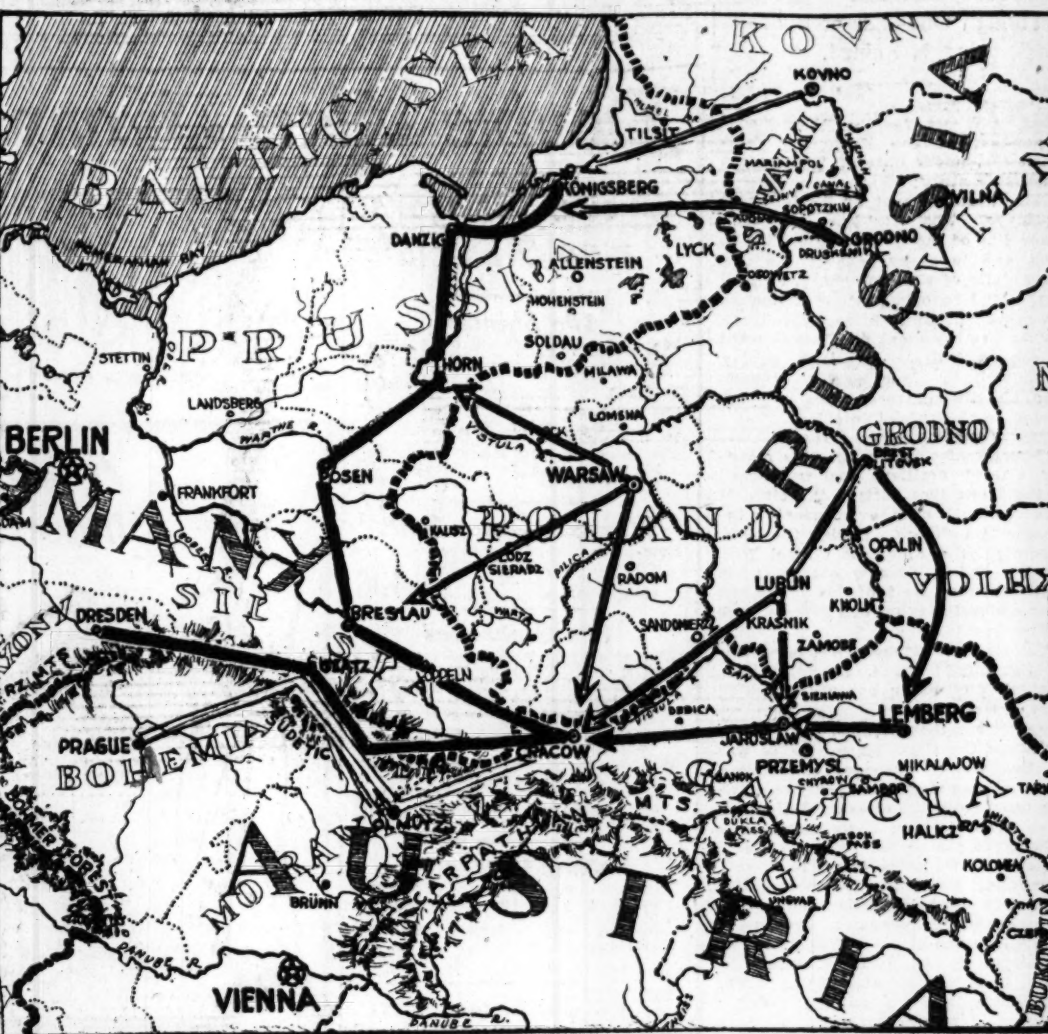

But four days ago the children, nurses and baby carriages came back, the Punch and Judy shows reopened and flying horses are pursuing each other in that hopeless race that is never decided. The closing down of the majority of the shops and hotels was not due to a desire on part of those employed in them to avoid the Germans, but to get at the Germans. On shop after shop are signs reading, "The proprietor and staff are with the colors," or "The personnel of this establishment is mobilized," or "Monsieur Blank informs his clients that he is with his regiment."

Women Run the Hotels. In the absence of the men at the front the French women, at all times capable and excellent managers, have surpassed themselves. In my hotel there are employed seven women and one man. In another hotel I visited the entire staff was composed of women. An American banker here offered his polo ponies to the Government. They were refused, and the heavy thought, He did not know that, and supposed he had lost them. Yesterday, from the wife of his trainer, a French woman, he learned that those employed in his stables at Versailles, who had not gone to the front at the approach of the Germans, had fled, and that for three weeks his string of 22 horses had been fed, groomed and exercised by the trainer's wife and her two little girls.

To an American it is very gratifying to hear the praise of the French and English for the American ambulance corps at Neuilly. It is the outgrowth of the American hospital and at start of this war was organized by Mrs. Herick, wife of our Ambassador, and other women of the American colony of Paris and the American doctors. They took over Lycée Pasteur, the enormous school at Neuilly, that had just been finished and never occupied, and converted it into what is most splendidly equipped hospital. In walking over the building you find it is the difference between a hospital and a hotel. It was intended for any other than its present use. The operating rooms, kitchens, wards, rooms for operating by Roentgen rays, and even a chapel have been installed.

The organization and system is of the highest order. Every day in the American; the doctors are the best in Paris; the nurses and orderlies are both especially trained for the work and volunteers. The spirit of helpfulness and unselfishness is everywhere apparent. Certain members of the American colony, who never in their lives thought of any save themselves and of how to escape boredom, are toiling like chamber-positions near Mariampol and south of St. Shushin. "In the vicinity of Wreschuk the ground is very rough making it difficult for the troops to keep their battle lines. This has resulted in a series of individual engagements.

"The advance of the Russian troops is meeting with success everywhere." Germans in Four Movements. It is the opinion of observers here, who judge the situation from information in Petrograd, that, as a result of the recent fighting on the Russian-German frontier, including the unsuccessful attempts of the Germans to cross the River Niemen, the German positions are suffering from the efforts to concentrate troops from the Russian Province of Kovno, army from the Province of Suwalki, repulsed at Druskeniki, on the left bank of the River Niemen, now is attempting to cross this river at Gretsch, where a big battle is in progress. It is evidently the intention of this army to flank the Russians under Gen. Ruzsky.

A third army is trying to proceed from Melenburg, in East Prussia, southeast in the direction of Warsaw, but apparently without success. Simultaneously the main German forces, starting from Posen, are proceeding eastward with Cracow as their objective. The southern division of the German army already has joined with the Austrians at Cracow.

Critic Says Germans Are Preparing to Advance on the Vistula. LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times sends this comment on the operations in the eastern war theater:

"Col. Rumsky, the military critic, says that the Germans are hastening to concentrate a mass of troops between Breslau and Cracow in order to advance on the right bank of the Vistula and thus compel the Russians either to evacuate Galicia or to achieve a decisive battle.

"The Germans are displaying an inordinate appetite. Not content with undertaking a decisive engagement in Silesia, they are trying a siege at Oswet, at the other end of the strategic front.

"Evidently they are confident of success at the battle in Silesia, as they are preparing a route across the River Niemen. In any case their attempt to carry out this new scheme will lead to a swift denouement."

A Petrograd dispatch to Reuter's Telegram No. 10, says: "In the Suwalki district from the left flank of the Germans the Russians followed two determined attempts to force a passage of the Niemen River, between Orlita on the north and Druskeniki on the south. Military critics point out that with the capture of Augustow and Kopytowo the Russians have broken the German center.

"The German line extended from Oswet to Symno, and the Russians, with great bravery, have expelled the Germans from their intrenchments on the lakes, which are divided by only from two to five miles of dry land.

"The German losses at Druskeniki amounted to 20,000. The rains have mired the roads so that many German guns have been imbedded and lost."

MERCY COMMITTEE IS FORMED TO AID VICTIMS OF WAR

International Organization Will Help Women and Children Deprived of Breadwinner.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—With the view of furnishing relief to women and children, innocent sufferers from the war in Europe, an organization has been nearly completed, to be known as the Committee of Mercy, which will collect and distribute funds on an international basis among the needy in all the affected lands, including this country, where the families of many reservists have been rendered destitute by the departure of their bread winners for armed service.

President Wilson approves the plan. Senator Ethel Root is the honorary president of the committee. August Belmont has accepted the treasurership. The vice-presidents are Mayor Mitchell of New York, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard; Miss Katharine B. Davis, Commissioner of Corrections, and Mrs. J. Borden Harman. Norman Hapgood is chairman of the State's committee, which will undertake to promote auxiliary committees in every state. Headquarters have been located in the Fifth Avenue Building.

General Committee. The general committee includes Vincent Astor, Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, Carl Beck, Mrs. August Belmont, T. C. Glavin, Frank Crowninshield, Charles R. Crane, Mrs. William K. Draper of the New York Chapter of the Red Cross Society, John Craig Hammond, Thomas D. Jones, Samuel Lewishohn, G. Lindenthal, Walter Maynard, John Moffat, Prof. M. I. Pupin, Leon Schindler, Count A. Sierstorff, Mrs. W. D. Sloane, Prof. William M. Sloan, Mrs. Melville E. Stone, Miss Ida Tarbell, Prince Paul Troubetzkoy, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, George von L. Meyer, Louis Brandeis, Mrs. Samuel T. Granger, Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, W. Bourke Cockran, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. Harry Garfield, Samuel Mather, Theodore Pell Jr. and Frederick H. Amen, chairman of the finance committee.

There will be no canvass for funds or solicitation by the committee. It is expected that the publicity to be given the purpose in view will lead to many donations. Means will also be devised for contributions to the general and the State treasuries through various organized bodies.

Prayers for peace having been asked in all the churches next Sunday by President Wilson, the suggestion has been made in letters to 30,000 clergymen that church collections for that day be applied at least in part to this relief.

Committees are in course of organization in the countries of the war zone to supervise local distribution of relief. In England the Administrative Committee includes the Duchess of Marlborough, Lady Paget, Lady Alice Lowther, Mrs. Lulu Harcourt, wife of the British Colonial Secretary; Lady Randolph Churchill, Mrs. John Astor and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain. Mrs. Page, wife of the American Ambassador, will also assist in the work.

Count Sierstorff has called for Germany to arrange for a German committee through Mrs. Gerard, wife of the American Ambassador. Similar committees will be formed as rapidly as possible in France, Belgium, Russia, Austria and Serbia.

GERMAN RETREAT INEVITABLE, SAYS A PARIS EXPERT

Besieged Cannot Indefinitely Preserve Defensive, Declares Lieutenant-Colonel Rousset.

"BATTLE SOON MUST END"

Correspondent on Battle Line Asserts Germans Are Becoming Exhausted.

By Associated Press. PARIS, Oct. 2.—"Whatever the Germans seek and whatever are their hopes it appears necessary that the inevitable battle of the Aisne must soon have an end," says Lieutenant-Colonel Rousset, the military critic of the Petit Parisien, commenting on the two last official communications.

"The two armies," says Rousset, "have fought for many days with fury on an enormous front, but while we have made progress, rally upon two wings to the north of the River Somme and in the south of Woerwe, the army of the enemy is exhausting itself in vain efforts to check our advance after having uselessly tried to break through somewhere.

"This situation, even though it can still last some time, must inevitably be by the definite retreat of our adversary. The besieged in any line, the experience of battles teaches one, cannot indefinitely preserve the defensive."

Germans Nearly Exhausted, Says Writer on the Battle Line.

AT THE BATTLE FRONT, Oct. 1, via Paris.—The recent terrible hand-to-hand conflicts on the western and eastern flanks arose from the attempts of the Germans and the allied Generals to execute flanking movements in great force at the same time in the open country. The lines of the armies have been growing even longer in the last 10 days, in a mutual endeavor to overlap each other.

The wings have been heavily reinforced, but the allies have been able to bring greater power to bear and have prevented the Germans from breaking through and have gained ground steadily and now have the advantage.

The German attacks in the last 24 hours seem to have been of some tactical value. The allies have been able to repulse them and follow them up more easily. There are signs that exhaustion is setting in among the invaders, owing to the hard fighting and the severe weather conditions. Meanwhile the allies are being given intervals of rest in the trenches between the periods of intense exertion, as fresh reserves can be brought to the front at any time.

Rich Students Dispatch Riders. The Generals in command of the allies are full of praise for the corps of dispatch riders, who since the beginning of the great battle of the Aisne, have kept up communication between the various corps along the line now spreading from the Somme to the Moselle and along the frontier of Alsace-Lorraine. The dispatch riders are mostly young men from British universities, many of them wealthy youths. Night and day they have made dashes through the country infested with German cavalry, carrying messages which kept the big guns and army corps in close touch and enabled commanders to send reinforcements to the points where they were most needed.

On many occasions these dispatch riders, mounted on motor cycles, by sheer audacity and speed, have scattered reconnoitering parties of German cavalry, sometimes facing enormous odds in their dangerous work.

Hanoiaux Says Battle Is Near End, With Victory for Allies.

BORDEAUX, Oct. 2.—Gabriel Hanoiaux, former Foreign Minister, sums up the situation at the front in a most optimistic manner. He says: "The great central battle is raging to an immense extent on both wings. Roughly speaking, the Germans have taken refuge in an immense fortress. The only open doors for them are through Maubeuge northward, then to Hiron and finally to Metz. Despite reinforcements, they have been repulsed continuously.

"The formidable siege approaches its end. Our Generals need only combine in their own wisdom, the necessity of conquering while at the same time sparing as much as possible the blood of our soldiers."

54 Ships Added to the U. S.

Merchant Fleet Under New Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Fifty-four ships of nearly a quarter of a million tonnage and worth approximately $15,000,000, have been added to the American merchant marine since the new ship registry law went into effect. Although the vessels previously sailed under British, German or Belgian flags, they were really American owned and had foreign registry only because they were foreign-built.

Assistant Secretary Sweet of the Department of Commerce said today the question of prize was not involved in any of the transfers.

Liner Potsdam Is Taken to Falmouth by British Warship

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Holland-American line steamship Potsdam, which left New York Sept. 22 with first and second cabin and steerage passengers bound for Rotterdam, was brought into Falmouth today by a British warship.

Jefferson Home Sale Considered. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Representative Lavy of New York, owner of Monticello, announced today that in view of Secretary Bryan's appeal to him to sell Thomas Jefferson's home to the Government, he was considering doing so. Heretofore he has refused to consider all such proposals.

AEROPLANE'S MOAN, THEN SCREAM OF SHELLS, RACK NERVES IN THE TRENCHES

Correspondent, Conducted Along Battle Line. Tells of Men Compelled, by Effect of Sounds, to Go Back for a Time.

BY GEOFFREY YOUNG.

Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the London Daily News. LONDON, Oct. 2.—I returned from the Continent today. When I left the center a few days ago a lull had come in the fierceness of the struggle along the Aisne.

The day before I left I was involved in a movement of French forces round the left wing near Clermont. Late in that day I learned from an airman of the great rapidity with which the Germans were pouring in reinforcements to their army from Vooges to the line of the Oise and toward Peronne.

It was the mass of these troops and the rapidity of their swing across and into the lines that enabled the Germans to anticipate the allied move, and for a time even to push them back at Laasgny, Chaulnes and Peronne, as we learn from the official communications.

Tuesday, the 22d, was the date of my last visit to the lines on the Aisne and my last opportunity of seeing something of actual fighting. We reached Fismes early in the day and there got rumors from Paris that the Germans had penetrated south in this region. We were relieved to find an extremely peaceful landscape.

Crossed on Pontoon.

For several weeks we had been inquiring in vain on all our excursions for a certain French infantry regiment to which belonged the much loved brother of my chauffeur. At Fismes we came by chance upon a small section of his company who, after some time, were wounded. They told us where we could find the missing brother engaged in the trenches across the Aisne. The river was crossed on a light pontoon for infantry only. I will not specify the point nearer than to say that we were behind a notable junction of the armies.

A low spur, rather exceptionally wooded, came down close to the bank, a temporary camp of shelters, and trenches under this spur, the much-sought brother greeted us. A Lieutenant who was in charge invited us to share the common ration.

The staple dish was a loaf of bread hollowed out and filled with some very richly scented sort of tripe, apparently popular and certainly filling. The meat was actually too hot, and coffee was served in panikins. We contributed the usual quota of newspapers and cigarettes.

The men are all sun-browned and hardened looking. Some had been in the trenches for a week or more and looked fine-drawn and battered, but all were resolutely confident. The stories they told had necessarily a great resemblance. They told of hours of waiting under a well-directed shell fire, of men killed beside them, of half-breath escapes from shrapnel, of constant digging and sapping.

French, With Fire Hose, Drown Germans Out of Their Trenches

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The correspondent of the Times, writing from Chalons, France, under date of Monday, says: "The Germans are gone, and Chalons is rejoicing. The latest news seems to indicate a general retirement from the strong line of defense which the Germans constructed to the north of Rheims and to the east and west.

"Their trenches on this line are wonderful works of art. Dig to a depth of six feet, they are covered and protected in many cases with layers of reinforced concrete. This work was executed by the forced labor of the inhabitants, to form a defensive position in case of need while the troops were still fighting on the Marne.

"Up to this line the French worked their way foot by foot, until in places their front was not 100 yards from the German trenches. The condition of these underground trenches, which extended for miles, was terrible. The wounded, as well as the dead, lie where they fell, amid the wet and filth. The French in the advance trenches could hear cries at night when the firing ceased.

French, Under Cover of Mist, Rout Germans in Stone Quarry

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in France describes the fighting between the allies and the Germans in the quarries where the Germans have been entrenched.

"From some of these natural fortresses," he says, "the Germans have been driven at last. It is rumored that they left others owing to the unburied dead, whose bodies poisoned the air. A quarry near the Forest of Aigue was attacked under cover of a mist by the French, who drove out the defenders after desperate fighting. Another quarry was won similarly by the French, who set fire to several buildings and at last took the batteries under cover of the smoke.

"A prisoner taken here, who formerly was a professor in one of the universities, said the casualties during the last fortnight have been terrible. French bayonet charges have left the plateau along the Aisne strewn with dead.

"Victory everywhere has been with the allies. The enemy's resistance has been broken, and there must soon be another retreat to the north and east. But the Germans must hold this right flank at any cost until the last moment, in order to save the center, which has been shaken by the British."

SHELL SHATTERS U. S. CONSUL'S HOUSE IN RHEIMS

American Official Escapes, Though One-Half of Building Is Ruined.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Rheims correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., under date of Wednesday, sends this story:

"The bombardment of Rheims still continues. The city has now been under fire of the German guns for 16 days, and in every part of the city the whistle of shells is heard, as well as the loud reports of their explosion, wrecking buildings in every quarter.

"The fire is no longer being directed on the cathedral, although during Monday night four shells dropped through the shattered roof and exploded in the ruined interior.

"Shortly after midnight this morning, a fierce artillery duel was heard in the front just outside the city. It was resumed with even greater intensity at 4 o'clock. During the bombardment, the American Consul Wm. Bartel, had a narrow escape, as a shell wrecked half of his residence, over which the Stars and Stripes were flying.

"When the Germans first bombarded the city Sept. 4, the American, Spanish and other consuls appealed to the German commander to spare the city, but they pleaded vainly.

"When the first German army was at Beaumont, southeast of Rheims, their second army suddenly entered the town from the direction of Epernay. The German commander was talking to the Mayor and other local officials on the steps of the town hall, arranging terms for the occupation, when the first German army, not knowing of his presence, poured 163 shells into the city. The commander, suspecting a trap by the French officials, furiously threatened to shoot the Mayor and councilmen. Subsequently it was discovered that the shells were of German manufacture, and he dispatched an automobile to the first army, requesting that they cease firing. Several Germans were killed before the firing ceased.

"Athletes' School Wrecked.

"On the way from Paris to Rheims, one passes the Falouze College of Athletes, where France expected to train her competitors for the Olympic games. The gymnasium buildings are a mass of ruins, as is also the magnificent marble open-air swimming pool, in which several shells had fallen.

"Regarding the scene of the recent battle of the Marne, the traveler may see hundreds of old men and women harvesting in the same spots where, a few days ago, there were numerous bodies."

German Newspapers Avoid Any Mention of Hard Times.
LONDON, Oct. 2.—The most noticeable characteristic of the latest German newspaper received here is the avoiding of anything indicating the industrial depression which is known to exist throughout the Empire.

The Berlin Lokal Anzeiger of Sept. 27 devotes much space to theatrical, sporting, art and music news and even to the news of the day.

"Sport and Hunt," it describes half a dozen athletic meetings, hockey and football matches and bicycle races, the receipts of all, of which go to help the Red Cross and other war-time charities. It even announces the personnel of the Berlin football team scheduled to play against a Vienna team in the latter city Oct. 4.

The theatrical notices all tell of well-filled houses. Two philharmonic concerts and a dozen less important ones are announced to be given on the same day. There is also a long account of the pictures sold at a great Berlin art exhibition.

Not a line about factories closing.

Tanner Accepts New York Chairman-ship.
NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Fred C. Tanner, who was elected chairman of the Republican State Committee yesterday, accepted the office in a brief speech at a banquet which ended the committee's session last night. He was campaign manager for Charles S. Whitman, nominee for Governor, in the primary and succeeds William Barnes.

War Cuts Revenue of Panama Canal.

MANN DECLARES WAR WITH EAST IS CERTAIN TO COME

Republican House Leader Gives Warning Against Letting Go of Philippines.

FUTURE FIGHTING GROUND

Says Islands Will Belong to Another Power Within Ten Years if U. S. Leaves.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Warning that Philippine independence meant surrender of the American strategic command of the Pacific, "the fighting ground of the future," and that a conflict between the United States and the Orient, "commercial or otherwise," was inevitable, was given the House yesterday by Republican leader Mann in a speech opposing the pending administration Philippine bill.

Representative Mann asserted that if the Philippines became independent they would, in time, either be acquired by Japan or some other nation, ultimately to be used against the United States. "If there is to be independence of the Philippines," he said, "let it be absolute independence. If they are to go, let them go and let Japan and China, Germany or England take them, as is inevitable, and then we will know what we have to fight."

"Close to Japan, like a sleeping child of the world, is China, with her vast territory, with her immense population. What was going on in Japan a few years ago is going on now in China."

"The awakening of China is more marvelous than in Japan, and as these great people in China rise to the civilization of our modern days and engage in wars, manufacturing and in production of all which man produces, we will enter into a series of competitive efforts with the far East, which have never been equaled in this world."

"The great population of China, we say, shall not be permitted to come to our shores. At the same time we say that China shall not be permitted to shut out our people or our goods. Such a position as we take perhaps cannot be abandoned by our people, but it never can be enforced in the long run without the power to enforce it. When China is awakened we will have a conflict on our hands which will last for many years, possibly for many centuries."

"We who now are legislating, if we do not bear in mind the possibilities of hundreds of years from now and the inevitable conflict, commercial or otherwise, which we will meet in the far East, have forgotten the principles which ought to actuate us."

Conflict Certain to Come.
"It is as certain as that the sun will rise tomorrow that a conflict will come between the far East and the far West across the Pacific Ocean. All which has taken place in the world during the history of the American race up to now teaches us that the avoidance of the conflict is impossible."

"I hope war may not come; that there be no conflict of arms. I have little faith that in this world of ours people and races are able to meet in competition for a long period of time without an armed conflict. A fight for commercial supremacy in the end leads to a fight with arms, because that is the final arbiter between nations."

"We command the Pacific Ocean today, with the land that we have on this side, with the islands which we possess in the sea and with the Philippines on the other side. Will we surrender our command? I say no. If we should let the Philippines islands go today without a string tied to them they would belong to some other country inside of 10 years."

"But if they could keep their independence 25, 50 or even 100 years, in the end they would be used against us instead of in our favor, in the inevitable conflict between competing races."

Have Trouble Enough.
"We are having trouble enough now about a country which we say we cannot afford to let another nation enter; trouble enough now in Mexico, and with other republics to the south, without engaging in any more enterprises of this kind."

"Who today would propose that we let Japan have a naval station in Mexico? Who today in our country would assent if England proposed to transfer British Columbia to Japan? We would go to war in a minute to prevent it, because we would be opposed to letting Japan or China have a base of supplies on this side of the Pacific."

"When Representative Mann took the floor, Manual Quezon, residence Commissioner from the Philippines had just concluded a plea for independence and for prompt action on the Jones bill, which would declare the purpose of the United States to grant independence as soon as the Filipinos are capable of self-government."

CONSTABLE CAN'T FIND STEVENS TO SERVE WARRANTS

Clayton Realty Dealer Reported to Be Absent From his,
St. Louis Home.

Constable Bruno of Clayton reported this morning that he had been unable to find Beverly C. Stevens, Clayton real estate operator, to serve on him two additional warrants charging the obtaining of money under false pretenses. Bruno would not state what further efforts he would make to find Stevens, but associates said the constable would call on the St. Louis police to find him if the warrants were not served this morning.

Stevens is under a $10,000 bond on a previous charge. The constable was informed that he had gone from his former residence at 5280 Washington boulevard. His attorneys did not know where he could be found, although they are reported to have said they knew he had not left St. Louis.

The additional charges against Stevens are that he obtained a good $1500 deed of trust from Henry Mehler of Sappington, St. Louis County, and substituted for it a worthless $1700 deed of trust, and that he sold a $2500 deed of trust to John M. Nichols of St. Louis property in Home Heights, which did not contain the improvements represented to be on it.

In the Nichols case it is charged there was an insurance policy accompanying the deed of trust showing that a brick house with a slate roof was on the property. It is alleged the lots are vacant.

Prosecuting Attorney Lashly has under consideration four additional applications for warrants.

Frank Tegethoff and Christ Ruel appraisers of Stevens' property, this morning began a valuation of the lots in St. Louis County which Stevens owns or in which he says he has an interest, to determine the value of his equity.

FOUR MORE CHANGES IN METHODIST PASTORATES

Four new changes among Methodist pastors in the St. Louis District were announced today by the Rev. James W. Lee, the new presiding elder. The changes were made by Bishop E. R.
Hendrix, and are to alter assignments
he made last Monday at the Carruthers-ville conference.

Rev. L. T. McCann, who was assigned to Clayton, now goes to the Christy Memorial Church.

Rev. Elmer T. Clark, who was assigned to Christy Memorial Church, will have charge of the Shaw Avenue Church.

Rev. Elmer Peal, who was assigned to the Shaw Avenue Church, goes to Carondelet, while the Rev. John Score, who was assigned to Carondelet, will remain at Clayton and finish the fourth year of his pastorate there.

Dr. Lee said the reassignments were made at the requests of the churches, and had been made to give satisfaction to all concerned.

CHARGES NEGRO ENTERED ROOM AND STABBED HER

Miss Gertrude Carson, 16 years old, a maid employed at the home of Maurice Levy, 4016 Lindell boulevard, caused the arrest of William Chappel, negro janitor of the Levy flat, at 4 a. m. today, alleging that he had entered her room and stabbed her while she was in bed.

The girl said she was awakened by a noise at the window of her first-floor bedroom and saw a man climb over the sill. He crossed the room and then lit a match, she said, and she recognized him as the janitor. After lighting a second match, she said, he approached her bed and struck her on the right thigh with something he held in his hand. She screamed and the man fled.

Members of the family did not hear her screams, but she knocked on Levy's door and told him what had happened.
He notified the police. Dr. Anthony Hall dressed the girl's wound and said apparently it was made with a knife.

Chappel was arrested at his home, 4317
Cassens avenue. He denied he had entered the girl's room. The police reported that a sharp nail four inches long was in Chappel's possession when he was arrested.

WIFE STILL HOLDS SECOND FLOOR OF WAGONER HOME

She Reports the General Situation Unchanged After 40-Hour Siege by Husband.

SHORT TRUCE DECLARED

Woman's Army Is Permitted to Boil a Chicken on First Floor, Where Allies Stand.

Mrs. Lulu Wagoner, after more than 40 hours of siege warfare with her husband, George C. R. Wagoner, president of the Wagoner Undertaking Co., was still entrenched today on the second floor of her home at 41st Lindell boulevard. During the night, according to her uncorroborated report, the enemy and his allies had executed an enveloping movement which threatened to cut her off from her base of supplies.

Mrs. Wagoner's valiant army, Mary Schwarz, found insurmountable obstructions when she attempted to go on a foraging expedition. Hitherto the lines to the south and east had remained open and it had been possible for the forager to climb from the balcony of the besieged citadel to the porch of a vacant house adjoining it and passing, this house to reach the neutral territory to the east.

Window Nailed Down.
In her first bulletin of the day, given to the war correspondents at 8:30 a. m., from the balcony, Mrs. Wagoner told of the enveloping movement. She said Mary Schwarz, on a reconnaissance, had found that the window leading into the vacant house from the porch had been nailed down.

Mrs. Wagoner asked the war correspondents to find a ladder and raise it to the balcony of her citadel so that she might restore her line of commissary communication.

There was a short truce yesterday afternoon, during which Mrs. Schwarz was permitted to boil a chicken for Mrs. Wagoner in the kitchen on the first floor, which is held by Wagoner and his allies.

Retiree to Barber Shop.
Efforts to obtain information from the allies' camp were partly successful. One of the besieging force appeared at the rear porticulis shortly after 8 a. m. and volunteered that Wagoner, the commanding general, had retired from the firing line to get shaved.

Correspondents who found a ladder and raised it to the front balcony had short parley with Mrs. Wagoner. She gave one a bundle which she said contained "valuable evidence," and asked that it be given to a woman in the neighborhood for safe keeping. She refused an offer of breakfast but said she would like to have a piece of ice.

At 10 a. m. an effort was made by both sides to bring up legal reinforcements. Mrs. Wagoner's petition, filed yesterday, asking that her husband be ousted from the citadel, was set for a hearing in Judge Withrow's Court. Judge Withrow said that, because of his cordial relations with both combatants, he desired to maintain a strict neutrality. The case was then transferred to Judge Fisher's tribunal and was entered on the docket for a hearing next Monday.

An ice man delivered 50 pounds of ice to the allies shortly after 10 o'clock.

At 11:30 a. m. Mary Schwarz left the trenches and made a bold dash for the kitchen, where she captured a fly swatter. She reported there were two men in the kitchen and that neither was Wagoner. Both were busy reading newspaper war bulletins and they made no demonstration in force against her.

2 SALARIES PAID FOR POLICE JUDGE IN JULY

Karl Kimmel, While Campaigning, Got One, Robert Walker, Acting, Got the Other.

City Auditor Sheehan made known yesterday that for the month of July two salaries were paid for service as Judge of the Clark Avenue Police Court, one to Karl Kimmel, the Judge, who was absent from the bench in a political campaign, and the other to Justice Robert Walker, who replaced Kimmel. The books showed that while Kimmel and Walker both drew the $208.33 the place pays monthly, Walker also drew $208.33 as Justice of the Peace.

Kimmel's letter of resignation to Mayor Kiel indicates he considered his absence from duty for July as a month's vacation, to which he was entitled. Although a warrant for his pay for August was drawn, the records of the Auditor's office show he made no effort to get it. Kimmel asked that his resignation be effective from Aug. 7. He quit to look after his campaign for Circuit Judge, following his nomination in the city primaries.

When the Mayor is away from the city he continues to draw his salary. The President of the City Council, serving as temporary Mayor, also draws the Mayor's pay, as well as that for his own office.

MILEAGE BOOKS GOING UP, 30,000,000 MILES SOLD

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 2.—Railroad ticket offices in this city were rushed to the limit in supplying the demand for mileage books at the 2-cent rate, which was increased to 2½ cents yesterday. More than 30,000 books of 100 miles each, totaling 30,000,000 miles of transportation, were sold. One large corporation, which has a big corps of salesmen on the road the year round, purchased 1500 books, good for 1,500,000 miles and costing $30,000. The net savings on this mileage was $7500.

The sales ran from lots of 500 books down to a single book. Several offices sold every book they had, even after they had received a large supply for the last two days' business.

WINCHESTER, Va., Oct. 2.—Local agents of the Baltimore & Ohio and the Cumberland Valley railroads had to telegraph for large supplies of mileage books to meet the demand before the price was advanced yesterday. The largest purchaser at the old price was Herman H. Hable, who bought 50,000 miles, paying $10,000.

Has your family outgrown that cottage? Need a larger place? Why not make an exchange offer through Post-Dispatch Wants for a more satisfactory home?

PROGRESSIVES PLAN TO TEST ANTI-FUSION LAW

Progressives of St. Louis County intend to test the State anti-fusion law which prohibits the publication of a name on more than one party ballot if County Clerk Seibel refuses to accept the nomination of William Dierker for Constable of Carondelet Township.

Dierker is already a candidate on the Democratic ticket. Dierker's name was forwarded yesterday to Seibel by A. H. Werremeyer, secretary of the county Progressive organization, and Seibel says he will consult lawyers before acting.

Werremeyer says the anti-fusion act is unconstitutional and will be ignored by the Progressives in St. Louis County.

is making nominations. 2 Women Hurt in Auto Crash. Mrs. Patrick Sullivan of 1023 North Forest Park avenue, University City, and her daughter, Miss Veronica Sullivan, were cut by flying glass yesterday afternoon when their automobile skidded into an iron trolley pole in front of 200 Manchester avenue.

SCHOOLS HERE ASKED TO JOIN IN PEACE PETITION

Committee Hopes to Add Names of St. Louis Children to Address to Powers.

The school children of St. Louis will join with those of the entire country in appealing to the rulers of Europe in the name of humanity for peace, if permission is given by the school authorities for the presentation of a petition for their signatures. A committee composed of Mrs. George Dock, Mrs. J. Fallon Delaney, Mrs. W. W. Boyd, Mrs. David N. O'Neill, Mrs. E. L. Adreon and Mrs. John B. Robinson will call on Supt. Blawie Tuesday and ask permission that this be done.

The petition asks for an armistice and the submission of the questions at issue to the Hague Tribunal and a promise to adjust all future differences in the same way. The rulers are begged to stop the frightful slaughter which seems like savagery fighting against civilization. The plea is "on behalf of the helpless children of Europe and Asia, who are being deprived of their fathers and their education and are being irreparably degraded by the hideous conditions created by war."

The movement has been started here at the suggestion of a committee of prominent New York women.

90 PER CENT LOSS IN PROGRESSIVE VOTE IN NEW YORK

Total for State in Primary about 31,000; Roosevelt Received 390,000 in 1912.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The big slump in the Progressive vote in the primary election in New York State from the showing the third party made in the 1912 election, taken together with the comparative gains in the Republican ranks, indicates clearly that a large percentage of Bull Moosers have returned to the Republican party. The Progressive vote for Roosevelt throughout the State in 1912 was 390,000, and in the City of New York alone it was 188,896, leaving a Progressive total up-State of 188,896.

Of course, the total of a primary vote seldom equals that of an election vote, but still the figures leave no question of a tremendous falling off in the Progressive strength. Virtually complete returns, only a few country precincts being missing now, show the vote cast at Monday's primary was approximately 51,000, a falling off in the primary vote from the 1912 election vote of about 90 per cent. The Republican primary vote shows a comparative gain over the election figures of two years ago.

Democratic Primary Vote.

The total Democratic vote in the primary is estimated at 260,000, nearly 40 per cent of the vote cast in the last State election, 649,553. The presidential vote for Wilson in the same election was 555,475.

The return of Progressives to the Republican party, as indicated by the returns, swelled the Republican total primary vote to about 50 per cent of the vote cast by the party in the last election.

Only about 40 per cent of the total vote of the State was cast in the primary, but this was the first primary election in the State, and because of the war and business problems in which the people have been so deeply absorbed, it has been pointed out that the primary was not advertised so extensively as it would have been under normal conditions.

Wadsworth's Plurality Grows.

With only a few precincts to report, the returns indicate that Frederick M. Wadsworth has beaten William Sulzer for the Progressive nomination for Governor by approximately 300 votes.

James W. Wadsworth apparently has beaten William F. Calder for the Republican senatorial nomination by 5500. Ambassador James W. Gerard won the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate over Franklin D. Roosevelt by 75,000. Gov. Glynn's majority over John A. Hennessy will probably reach 15,000. Whitman will have a plurality of about 65,000 over Job Hedges and Frederick M. Davenport for the Republican nomination for Governor.

EXPORTS OF GRAIN AND COTTON ARE PICKING UP

September Customs Receipts Fall Off $9,500,000, but Internal Revenue Shows Increase.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Although Government revenues from customs fell off about $9,500,000 during September compared with the same month in 1913, Treasury officials today found some comfort in figures on recent exports in grain and cotton. There was encouragement, too, in the announcement that for September the ordinary internal revenue receipts were almost $5,000,000 above those for last September, although this increase is said to be due to unusual conditions not likely to figure in future months.

Despite this, the total receipts for the month from all sources were nearly $6,000,000 under last September, and the excess of disbursements was nearly $2,500,000, while in September, 1913, the excess of disbursements was about $4,000,000.

During the week ending yesterday, 58,114 bales of cotton were exported, and yesterday's grain exports aggregated 1,200,000 bushels. The cotton went to England, the Netherlands, Italy, Spain, Mexico, Sweden, Portugal and other countries. The grain went chiefly to England, Holland and Norway.

GARY, STEEL TRUST HEAD, QUILTS OUTSIDE BOARDS

Action Dictated by "Growing Public Sentiment Against Interlocking Directorates."

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, has resigned from every corporation directorate outside the State Trust and its subsidiaries.

It was announced that Judge Gary's last resignation from the board of the Southern Railway went in 10 days ago. He has been dropping out of the other boards for the last two years.

In Judge Gary's action Wall street recognizes acquiescence in the rule of public opinion in corporate affairs. The head of the Steel Trust stated that his action had been dictated "because there seems to be a growing public sentiment against interlocking directorates."

Associates of Gary today expressed the opinion that he had gone even further than public opinion demanded in dropping out of corporations which the Steel Trust does not control.

The resignations have been in line with those of members of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. who announced earlier in the year that they would withdraw from all corporations outside their own business. William Rockefeller and George W. Baker withdrew a few days ago from the New Haven board.

STATE SOCIALISM SOLVES BRITAIN'S SUGAR PROBLEMS

Royal Commission Corners Supply, Prevents Material Increase in Price.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The report of the Royal Commission, appointed at the outbreak of the war with full power to deal with all questions on the public sugar supply, shows that a great experiment has been made with State Socialism, and with such success that there has been a small increase in price and no shortage of sugar. The commission practically cornered the available supply, and so checked speculation for a rise in the price. The sugar so cornered was sold to refiners at a fixed price, with the proviso that they in turn should sell to retailers at moderate prices which were definitely determined.

The report gives all the necessary details of the record of fixing prices and so forth, but says nothing concerning the sources of supply or the quantity secured. It is understood, however, that most of the sugar was obtained from Java, Mauritius, Cuba and Demerara, and that owing to the depression of the trade in America, the commission was able to obtain all they wanted at not more than double the prices formerly prevailing. About 300,000 tons were purchased at an average of $100 a ton, involving an outlay of $30,000,000. It is not expected that the transaction will involve any loss to the Government, as the prices fixed assure a considerable reserve of profit.

PEACE TREATY BETWEEN U. S. AND RUSSIA SIGNED

Twenty-Seventh Pact of the Kind Entered Into Formally With Foreign Nations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Secretary Bryan, for the United States, and Ambassador Bakmetsoff, for Russia, yesterday signed a treaty binding the two nations to submit all disputes that cannot be settled diplomatically to an international commission of five members, for investigation during a period of at least one year, during which hostilities may not be started.

This is the twenty-seventh of the so-called investigation treaties, and follows in a general way the lines of those previously negotiated with nations all over the world.

Similar pacts have been signed between the United States and Great Britain and France. Negotiations with Germany and Japan have not been entered into formally, although the general proposition was submitted to those nations, along with the others, early in the present administration. No treaty of any kind has existed between the United States and Russia since President Taft abrogated the commercial treaty of 1892.

PETRAS NOT GUILTY OF GIRL'S MURDER; WIFE KISSES JURY

Illinoisan Was Accused of Causing Death of Theresa Hollander, Former Sweetheart.

GENEVA, Ill., Oct. 2.—Antony Petras was found not guilty this morning by a jury in his second trial for the murder of Theresa Hollander, his former sweetheart, in an Aurora cemetery on the night of Feb. 15 last.

In the former trial the jury disagreed, one man holding out for conviction. As the jury filed out today, Petras' young wife shook each man by the hand and kissed him. Petras thanked the jurors and shook their hands, saying: "Gentlemen, I thank you for telling the world that I am innocent of this awful crime. No one would be more gratified than I to see the man who killed that girl caught and punished."

The case against Petras was entirely circumstantial. He rode home the night of the murder on the same car with Miss Hollander and a knife, which one witness identified as his, was picked up a few feet away from where the body of the murdered girl was found.

A negro, Walter Hickman, who rode on the car with Petras and Miss Hollander, said Petras got off one block beyond where Miss Hollander left and ran back. The girl's mother testified that Petras had threatened her daughter's life. The girl was murdered within 200 feet of her home.

10,000 "TUMMY ACHES" DOUBLE UP ST. JOSEPH

Doctors Search for an Elusive Germ and the Water Is Being Tested.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 2.—Ten thousand St. Joseph people are suffering with a peculiar brand of "tummy ache," and leading doctors are engaged in a chase of an elusive germ. The ache has not resulted fatally, but it has caused many persons to take a few days' vacation.

There is a suspicion that it is caused by the city water and on this theory, Dr. A. E. Logan, city bacteriologist, is testing the water to see if he can locate the germ. The epidemic has been noticeable for 10 days.

LABOR EDITOR SAYS HE SHOT MUSSER IN A DAZE

Testifies He Fired Only One Shot After He Had Been Attacked Twice.

LINCOLN, Ill., Oct. 2.—Carl Person, Clinton, Ill., labor editor, charged with the murder of Antone Musser, testified yesterday he had shot at Musser while in a daze and only after being attacked. "I was twice attacked in Decatur last summer," he said. "I had been warned that nonunion men had threatened to kill me. I was called to the interurban station on the afternoon of the shooting and was beaten by a man twice my size. When I got to my feet he lunged at me. I remember pulling the trigger only once." Many citizens testified to Person's good reputation.

The defense rested today. Closing arguments will begin late this afternoon and the case probably will go to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

SIKHS REFUSED ENTRY TO CANADA MUTINY IN INDIA

LONDON, Oct. 2.—In a dispatch from Calcutta, the correspondent of Reuters' Telegram Co. describes a mutiny of Sikhs brought back to India after being refused admittance to British Columbia. Sixteen of the Indians were killed.

The correspondent transmits a communication on this subject issued by the Bengal Government, as follows:

"The Sikh passengers on the steamer Komagata Maru, who were refused permission to land at Vancouver, British Columbia, arrived at Bajaj last Saturday.

Some of them refused to board a train for the Punjab, and opened fire with their revolvers. One European was killed and several others, including the commissioner of police, were wounded. Troops were compelled to fire to check the rushes of the Sikhs, and 18 of the rioters were killed. The remainder were scattered to surrounding villages, and later were rounded up."

The Hindus who mutinied at Bajaj are the men who for more than three months resisted the Canadian Government's order of deportation, but who finally were compelled to return to India from Vancouver on the same ship that brought them out, the Japanese steamer Komagata Maru.

This steamer, with 353 Hindus on board, reached Vancouver in April of this year. She sailed on her return trip July 23. During this time the status of the East Indians was passed upon by the highest courts of Canada, which finally ruled that they could not land.

BLAMES MOTHER-IN-LAW FOR HIS DIVORCE SUIT

Manager of Iron Works Asserts She Tried to Injure His Wife Against Him.

ERICH EMIL DE VRIES, general manager of the Eagle Iron Works, 3001 Market street, who filed suit for divorce today in the Circuit Court against Mrs. Vivian Catherine de Vries, says in his petition that his mother-in-law was the cause of the separation.

Ten days after they were married, he avers, on July 31, 1911, his wife's mother, who had shown a dislike for him, came to live with them and stayed until Labor Day. She might have stayed longer, but on that day he bought her a railroad ticket back to Kentucky. He did this because, he says, she had tried to injure his wife against him.

May 19, this year, Mrs. de Vries told her husband that her mother was coming back to live with them. He told her that if his mother-in-law came he would go. Two days later they separated. Mrs. de Vries has been living at 2629 Market street. De Vries is living with his father at 3513 Park avenue.

St. Louis Woman Home From Geneva. George W. Hendrick, a broker in the Chemical Building, yesterday received a letter telling of the arrival in New York of Mrs. Hendrick's sister, Mrs. Marguerite Baker of St. Louis, who came from Geneva on the Pacific steamship Antilles. The Antilles was chartered by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, and John G. Johnson, a Philadelphia lawyer, to bring Americans home. The ship was under the American flag.

POLICE ARE ASKED TO AID DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUND

Secretary of Board Admits Telephoning to Captains and One of Them Says Chairman McClung of State Committee Informed Him of Need of Help.

Investigation by Post-Dispatch reporters today disclosed that James C. Epsy, secretary of the Board of Police Commissioners, telephoned at least one Police Captain a few days ago and told him to go to the Planters Hotel and see D. C. McClung, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, who had a request to make.

Capt. Edward J. Phillips, commanding the Newstead district, said to a reporter that he visited McClung at the Planters on the day that Epsy telephoned him. McClung, he said, told him the Democratic State Committee was very short of campaign funds and it had to appeal to all loyal members of the party to help out to the best of their ability.

Sergeants Told of Request.
Capt. Phillips declared McClung then said: "Therefore, we're going to ask the Captain, as a member of the Police Department, to make it plain to the Sergeants in his district just what the condition of the Democratic Committee is, so that the Sergeants can let all the patrolmen under them know of it."

McClung did not suggest any specific amounts to be contributed by the policemen, Capt. Phillips said. The Captain admitted he repeated McClung's conversation to the Sergeants under him, but advised them there was nothing compulsory about the contributions.

Capt. Phillips, when asked if it was a custom before elections to tell policemen they could contribute to the campaign fund, said he had not heard of it being done for many years. The last time campaign funds were solicited from Police Department members, so far as known, was in 1908. Capt. Phillips said it was three or four days ago that Epsy telephoned him.

Epsy Telephoned Captains.
Epsy, when seen at the Police Board's office at police headquarters by a reporter, admitted he had telephoned "most of the Captains," telling them there would be no objection to campaign contributions by members of the Police Department, or even by noncommissioned members, such as janitors, turnkeys, clerks and telephone operators.

There had been a general discussion among policemen, Epsy said, as to what the proper procedure would be as to campaign contributions. He said policemen had asked him whether contributions should be made to the city, State or national committees, in an effort to ascertain who was handling the campaign fund. Some of these questions, Epsy said, had been in the Police Department 25 or 30 years and never had failed to contribute to the Democratic campaign fund.

Names Democratic Treasurer.
Epsy said he told the policemen that former Gov. Dockery was treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, and that as he was not in town, he supposed Dockery's subordinate would accept the money. Epsy did not say anything about his having told policemen who were the treasurers of the Republican or Progressive committees.

Epsy is a Democrat, and holds office under a Democratic Police Board, which controls the department at present. In telephoning the Captains, Epsy said, he told them they could tell those who wished to contribute to whom they could send their money. He said he made it plain to the Captains that contributions for the campaign fund were not compulsory. The law prohibits the assessment of campaign funds against commissioned members of the Police Department.

Police Board's Attitude.
Samuel B. McPheters, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, gave to a Post-Dispatch reporter, who called on him, a statement of his opinion regarding campaign contributions by members of the department.

"There is nothing in the police regulations, and there should be nothing, to prohibit any member from contributing to any party he wishes to aid, he said. "Simply because a man is a policeman, he should not be denied the rights which a private citizen has."

However, the Board will not permit any system by which a superior officer collects campaign money from policemen for any party.

"The board will not permit any coercion and will not permit any attempt to force contributions from policemen," McPheters said.

McPheters was asked if he did not believe the mere statement by a commanding officer that the men could contribute to a party campaign fund would have the effect of a command to the men to contribute to the party in power.

"That depends altogether on the manner of the statement," he replied, "and, from my understanding of the situation, Capt. Johnson merely stated to the men that they could contribute if they chose to do so."

"I see no objection to such a statement, but I would oppose with all my power any attempt to force men to contribute, or any system of collection through department members. The proper way for men who want to contribute is to go to the headquarters of the party which they wish to aid and make their contributions. There should be no collectors at the stations to receive the money and turn it in."

"If I learn there has been any attempt to coerce men or to force them to contribute, I shall see that charges are preferred before the board against those guilty."

McPheters said that the matter of campaign contributions had not been considered by the board and that no instructions had gone from the board to commanders of the districts to make any statement to the men about contributions. He said he supposed that the party committee had taken the matter up with the captains.

After this interview the reporter learned of Capt. Phillips' statement that he had been told by Secretary Epsy of the board to call on Chairman McClung and of the results of that interview. This was related to McPheters.

"I shall investigate the matter thoroughly," he replied.

"What I shall do later will depend altogether on the manner in which the matter was handled. I can add nothing except to repeat that the board will not permit a system of campaign contributions which would lead the men to believe that they were obliged to contribute."

Requested to Advise Men.
Capt. James Johnson, commanding the Laclede district, admitted he called his Sergeants before him yesterday and told them they were at liberty to tell patrolmen they might contribute if they cared to. He said he had been requested to advise the Sergeants, but would not tell who made the request. He said, however, the request did not come from Chief of Police Young or from the Police Board.

Capt. Johnson was reluctant to discuss the matter. When asked he said there were no rules in the Police Department against contributions to campaign funds.

"Why, then, was it advisable for you to give your men special notice that there would be no objection to their contributing to the campaign fund?" was asked. "Because I was requested to do so," Capt. Johnson replied.

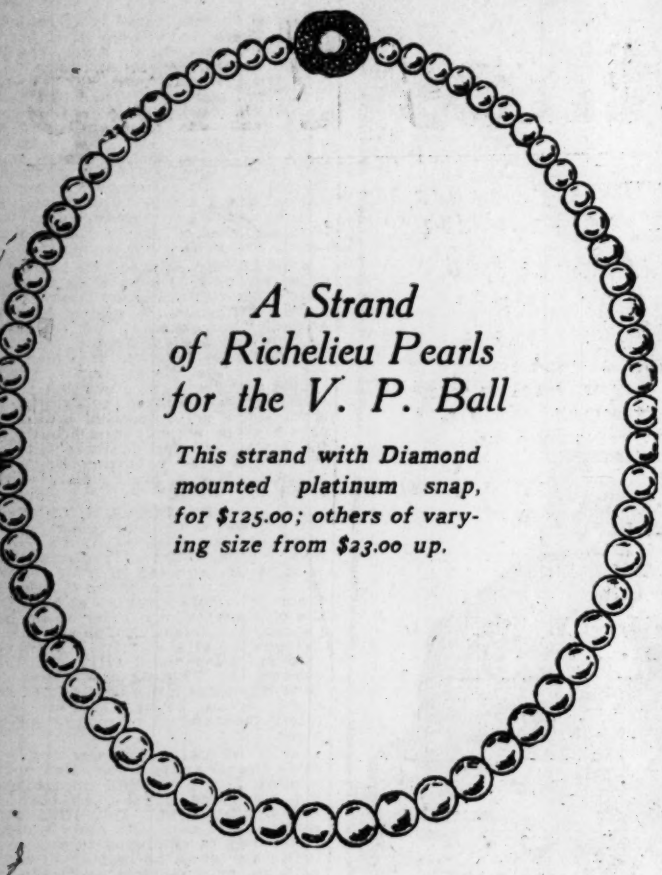

Capt. Gaffney's Opinion.
Capt. Patrick J. Gaffney, Page Boulevard Station, said he considered the subject concerned a matter which was his own business, and that he would decline to make any other statement than that he had not been requested to contribute and had not asked anybody to contribute. He refused to say whether Epsy had requested him to call on McClung. He said it was the privilege of every member of the department to spend his money in any legitimate way he wished, and that any member could contribute to any political party fund.

Capt. Hess of the Carondelet Station, Capt. Reynolds of the Deer Street Station and Capt. Wilson of the Maguolia Station told reporters they had not talked with anyone about campaign contributions.

Capt. Schwartz, Mounted District, and Capt. O'Malley, Angelica Station, admitted telling their men about the campaign contributions. Capt. Singleton, Dayton Street Station, said he told his Sergeants about it.

Billy Pig Gets a Scare

Sandman Story of How Billy Goat Plays He Is a Black Wolf and Gets All the Chestnuts..

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ONE morning Billy Goat saw Billy Pig going down the road with a large basket on his arm. "He's going after the first chestnuts," said Billy Goat, "and I think it is about time I paid him up for all the things he has said and done to me for a while back." Billy Goat brought out of the barn the buffalo robe, and when he reached the woods he covered himself with it, being very careful that his horns did not show.

Billy Pig had his basket about half filled with chestnuts when he suddenly stopped and listened. "Was that a growl?" he asked himself.

He listened. "Yes, that surely was a growl. And then he saw a head that made him tremble. It was a black wolf. Billy Pig was too frightened to run, so he stood quite still and watched the black wolf coming slowly toward him. "Woof, woof," growled Billy Goat under his disguise. "I understand you have behaved in a dreadful manner to Billy Goat lately. You have said things that were not true about him and you would not give him any of your mother's preserves when he asked you for some."

Billy Pig tried to run, but his legs refused to go, for he was so frightened, and then Billy Goat's command to "Stop!" brought him to a standstill. Billy Goat shook with laughter under his fur covering, but Billy Pig thought he was shaking with anger and he trembled so he had to sit down.

"There is just one way I can think of that will give you another chance," said Billy Goat. "You have some very fine chestnuts there and I know that Billy Goat would like some, but it is hard for him to pick them up. Now, if you fill that basket and give them all to him, I will give you another chance."

"Oh! I will give him the chestnuts," Mr. Wolf said. Billy Pig, jumping up and gathering the nuts as fast as he could, "I will give him this basket as full as I can carry it and I won't tell any more wrong stories about him."

Billy Pig worked fast and soon the basket was filled; then he took it on his arm and started down the road. There was Billy Goat just as black as wolf had said. "I am glad you are safe," he said as Billy Pig came up to him. "I saw old black wolf go past here a little while ago and he asked me where you were. Did you see him?"

"Yes, he chattered with me a while," said Billy Pig. "He said he was busy this morning and was in a hurry. I have brought you some chestnuts."

When Billy Pig reached home his mother asked him if he did not find any chestnuts.

"I saw old black wolf going into the woods," said Billy Pig, "and I thought I would wait until another day. My, but he is a fierce-looking fellow!"

"I wonder he did not get Billy Goat," said his mother. "I saw him going into the woods while you were there. He was carrying something that looked like fur. I wonder what it was?"

"Was he?" said Billy Pig. And then he sat thinking for a while.

"Alone!"

A Tale of Heart-Ache, of Yearning, and of Fate's Happy Way of Bringing on the Happy Ending.

By F. H. Lancaster.

HAPPY HALLAM wandered on, that beautiful October evening, between the royal purple and gold of the wild woods with autumn's wealth and autumn's waste on either hand. It was good to be there—the old home among the pines—the pines themselves grand with the sun's rays falling like a halo about their proudly uplifted crests. And now, at the first whisper of the pines, what had become of that so carefully cultivated indifference?

Two weeks ago she had told herself that one may cultivate indifference until it becomes a disease, and she more than half suspected that she had done this. And now, at the first whisper of the pines, what had become of that so carefully cultivated indifference? She had also told herself that she detested Burns and his unreadable Scotch. But the lines that had nagged at her inner conscience and made her life difficult for the last 24 hours were none other than:

"The old goldfinch's well hoarded nuts are round and round-divided. An' monie lads' and lassies' fates are there that night decided. Some start awa' wi' saucy pride, And burn thither thrily; Some start awa' wi' saucy pride, And jump out o'er the chimble. For hie that night."

"Well," she exclaimed, throwing up her head desperately, "I suppose it is only natural to think of such things on

Owes His Life to This Lung Remedy

A lingering cough or cold which does not yield to ordinary treatment, should be a warning. Preventive measures should be taken at once. In many cases Eckman's Alternative has brought about recovery. Read this:

715 St. John's Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Gentlemen:—In the year of 1908 I was taken with a heavy cold and a nasty cough which consequently I failed in health. I then went to the Catskills and seemed to get better, but the cough still kept up. I stayed there for one week, and then I went to a farm near Jersey City, a very sick man. About the time I got there I had been for Eckman's Alternative very highly recommended. I had heard of it for some time, but I had not been for Eckman's Alternative. (Abbreviated.)

L. ACKERMAN, Manager,
10-512 WASHINGTON.

the last day of October. "What things?" asked a masculine voice at her elbow. Hope stiffened all over. "I didn't know you were there," she remarked carelessly. "I wasn't," he explained. "It is a case in the present tense." "Oh," she commented. They walked on in silence. Rather unfortunately, since it was a silence resolved to make them remember what both had resolved to forget.

She Tried Hard to Forget.

LAST hallow-eve they had walked down this lane together; but that was before they burned those silly nuts together; they had not quarreled then and their hands had been better employed than at present. Also, the silence between them had been something better than constrained. Why couldn't she forget for just five minutes that they had ever burned those ill-fated nuts together. It was absurd. In novels, sentimental memories may form the warp and woof of a woman's life, but in reality, and with a business woman especially, the idea of a little affair of a year's standing tying one's tongue was ridiculous.

"The golden rod is pretty, isn't it?" she remarked, resolutely cheerful.

"Very pretty," he agreed courteously.

"Autumn is a lovely time of the year," she continued more vivacious than original.

"Extremely so," he assented absently. "I was out of a big grain elevator the other day," she began.

"Do you do much of that?"

"A good deal. Father made a specialty of elevators, so, of course, I understand that department better than—"

she broke off abruptly. "Thoroughbred business women never talk shop. Besides this business her father had left her made the quarrel permanent."

His Mood Not for Working.

THE fair-faced man returned to his philosophical calm and switched off daisies' heads with heartless skill.

"What have you been doing lately?" she asked, beginning to despair of eliminating the personal element.

"Mountains," he returned laconically. "Are they good?" she questioned, vaguely.

"About like everything else I have done this year," he returned cheerfully. "I've been in a better mood for wandering than working."

Hope stopped and stared down drearily at the little brook. There was no reason why she should not go on talking. It was all so peaceful, but with her whole heart she longed to be anywhere save in the presence of this strong, silent man, and the memories of that silly nut of hers that had first sprung upon them returned with a rush to burn to ashes beside his:

"An' monie lads' and lassies' fates are there that night decided."

If she was not a business woman training to take a logical view of everything, she could find relief in detesting him for his stubborn silence. But she knew that once he had spoken earnestly and that he was not the man to repeat himself.

"If we cross over at once you will be able to look at my latest before the light fails," he suggested as he led the way toward the little bridge.

Hope followed with a pang at heart. How many, many happy hours had she spent in that wood-nestled studio watching him at his work. She glanced at the easel with tired eyes.

"Mountains," he had said. Rather a single mountain grandly limbed and barren. Perpetual snow upon its peak; perpetual shadow upon its slopes. Its strong side storm-swept and stern. No where a hint of sunshine save where the light fell soft and clear upon a dead butterfly with outspread, broken wings "Alone!"

"Oh, Harry!" She cried.

HARRY struggled against the supreme desolation of the conception. She knew that he was standing near somewhere sharpening a pencil with mathematical precision. "Alone!" looking down forever upon that dead Psyche at its feet.

"Oh, Harry, I can't!"

The knife and pencil disappeared and a firm hand checked her rush for the door.

"Yes, yes! I enjoy looking at my picture," he said quietly. "How would you like to live it?"

"I have lived it," she replied recklessly. "It's worse than it looks!"

"I know it is," he returned, methodically closing the door behind them.

They started away nervously into the dim lighted woods. The air of that cool October evening seemed surcharged with eager fire. The man remained relentless. If she wanted to be with him she must come to him.

When they reached the brook Harry pulled a couple of magnolia leaves and paused idly.

"Shall I launch them?" he asked.

"No," she said quickly.

"We ought to settle it."

"I prefer to settle it some other way."

"What other way?" he questioned relentlessly.

"Some surer way," she muttered.

Harry dropped the leaves as he had dropped the pencil.

"Hope," he said huskily, "I swore once that I would never ask you again."

"I know," she interrupted incoherently. "Don't do it. I'm going to do it, anyway."

Again the firm hand closed on hers, but this time it did not release its hold to close a door. For it was as if all the doors of that old life had closed behind them and they had come out hand in hand upon the sunny upland of a gracious hope.

And one lad and lassie's fate was there that night decided.

WOMAN UNDER AN ANESTHETIC SAYS SHE SLEW ACTRESS

Body Found in California Ranch-house From Data Supplied by Patient in Semi-Coma.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 2.—Statements muttered by Mrs. Frankie Lang of Los Angeles while under an anesthetic for the treatment of wounds on her head, yesterday, led to the arrest of the woman on suspicion of murder and the subsequent finding of the body of Fannie Curland, a motion picture actress, in a vacant ranch house near Riverside. Two men are under arrest on suspicion of being implicated.

Mrs. Lang had visited the residence of Dr. R. G. Roberts to have her wounds treated. As the anesthetic began to take effect, the patient spoke of fighting with another woman and of shooting her, according to the physician's statements.

Dr. Roberts called the police and detectives then talked to the semi-conscious woman. From questions the location of the house near Riverside was learned and the names of Frank Garfield of Los Angeles and George Ellis of Riverside, who are alleged to have witnessed the affair.

After her arrest Mrs. Lang denied she did the shooting, saying Miss Curland had killed herself.

FOR A SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS OR DYSPEPSIA—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN.

Wonder what upset your stomach—what portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. Your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take Pape's Diapepsin, and in five minutes you will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quick-acting, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is astonishing. Please don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—ADV.

WITHDRAWS SUIT AGAINST LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE

Anti-Trust Proceedings Brought by Commission Company Are Not Tried.

The suit of Charles E. Henry & Sons' Commission Co. and E. F. Henry against the St. Louis Livestock Exchange and 49 livestock commission firms to restrain them from operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was withdrawn in the Circuit Court at Belleville today.

When the case was called the plaintiffs asked for a continuance and Judge Crow gave them an hour in which to prepare the necessary affidavit. At the end of the hour it was announced that attorneys for both sides had conferred and had agreed that a nonsuit be entered.

DYING MAN SAYS HE'S SOCIETY THIEF, CLEARS MYSTERY

Confesses Stealing $15,000 Gems of Paris Banker's Daughter in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The theft last year of gems worth $15,000 from Miss Mary Kohn, daughter of a Paris banker, was cleared up today to the satisfaction of the police by a confession attributed to Herbert J. Eaton, a young man who lay at death's door from a detective's bullet.

Eaton, who lived in well-to-do circumstances, with his wife and baby, was shot late Wednesday night while running away from detectives, who had caught him in a trap baited with a wealthy woman and a roll of bills. Mrs. Gertrude Pike, who lured Eaton to arrest, told the police that Eaton had telephoned to her, demanding $500 for jewels stolen from her apartment on Riverside Drive a few days before. She had met him at a fashionable New York hotel, and told him when a woman friend introduced him as "Mr. Williams." The supposed Mr. Williams escorted her home and obtained possession of the key to her apartments—although she did not know it then—when her handbag fell from her lap, scattering its contents. With their key, she charged, he effected the robbery.

Eaton, apparently about to die, had a long talk today with Inspector Faurot of the Detective Bureau, who asserted Eaton had confessed the robbery of Miss Kohn's apartments, in the fashionable section of Madison avenue, in August, 1913. Eaton had met Miss Kohn socially, it was stated, and no suspicion was ever attached to him. Gems, silk dresses and other valuables aggregating $15,000 were stolen.

By day Eaton was private secretary to a member of a large wine importing firm of this city. He seldom left home in the evening and to all appearances was a model young man, with good social connections.

GOV. COX OF OHIO IS INDORSED BY PRESIDENT

Chief Executive in a Letter Also Praises Work Done by Buckeye State Congressman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—President Wilson wrote to Representative White of Ohio today indorsing the administration of Governor Cox and the work of the Democratic Congressmen from Ohio. The President wrote:

"Gov. Cox has carried out with extraordinary spirit and success the program of reforms laid down in the platform of the party. This record is of a piece with the consistent action of the Democratic members of the House of Representatives from Ohio, which has constantly excited my admiration."

Secretary Bryan discussed with President Wilson today plans for the extended campaign trip which he expects to begin in Pennsylvania next week and which will extend throughout the middle west, ending in Nebraska.

MUST WEAR FULL TIGHTS TO DIVE IN PUBLIC

Lottie Mayer, at the head of a troop of women divers appearing at a local theater, was summoned before Prosecuting Attorney Wilson today on complaint of Edward A. Feehan and E. V. P. Schneiderhahn of the Federated Catholic Societies and Detectives Christman and Campbell of the morality squad. She was cited because she and her performers appear on the stage in abbreviated tights and barefoot.

Though she protested that the costumes were not improper she was told by Wilson that at the head of a troop of women divers appearing at a local theater, was summoned before Prosecuting Attorney Wilson today on complaint of Edward A. ## REPLEVIN SUIT FOR A PIANO IS DISMISSED

TEXAS MAN HELD FOR PASSING BAD CHECKS

He Was Captain in Roosevelt's Rough Riders—Says He Can Make Good.

Capt. Robert H. Bruce of Minocla, Tex., who says he has extensive holdings in Oklahoma and Texas oil properties, is detained at police headquarters on a charge of passing worthless checks. He admits having overdrawn his bank accounts to the extent of $100, but insists he could straighten out the affair if he were not behind the bars. Bruce, who is 44 years old, was in command of a troop of volunteer cavalry which composed part of Col. Roosevelt's regiment in the Spanish-American War. He came to St. Louis several weeks ago, he said, to obtain money with which to finance some of his oil interests. Bruce gave I. H. Keeler, a saloon keeper at Eighteenth and Market streets, two checks for $5 each, and the police say William Egelhoff, a saloon keeper at 801 Market street, is holding $5 worth of paper that was not honored. Bruce said he was recently elected to the State Legislature of Texas, and that he has a brother who is a member of that body now.

and Sportsman's Park. On Saturday two games will be fought for one admission while the first class will be charged Sunday. If necessary, a seventh game will be fought Monday.

Cardinals. It looks now as though a third place team from the National League will antagonize a fifth place team from the American. If the latter organization is the stronger, the teams should be well nigh equal. Anyhow the series is so attractive that Champ Pickens, declined to be the guest of a firm on a trip to the world's series, for fear he would miss something at Robison Field. Some fan!

Today's Schedule.

Purely Hypothetical.

"PUT a crook in baseball," says Clark Griffith, "and he would become an honest man in two months by association."
 Cite an instance, Griff.

Their Best Asset.

IT begins to appear that the Yankees will be justified in relying on Kubeek Wilford to win the Manhattan series for them.

A Debt to Davis.

THE out-of-door element in St. Louis is deeply in debt to one man. Most of us will probably never be able to repay him the things he has done for us.
 The man is Dwight F. Davis, Park Commissioner. Mr. Davis is responsible for the daily enjoyment and health of many thousands of persons in this city. Indirectly he will have contributed a greater benefit than many men whose statues adorn public places in the parks which he has devoted to "growing men instead of grass."
 St. Louis parks today are as much given over to recreation as to beauty. Is little more so. Davis is responsible for

ONE OF THE serious bars to the Cardinals' pennant hopes is Hub Pease. Until "Hub" is fired there's scant chance of ever winning the flag. This year Hub was dropped by the Cubs who won the pennant; this year the Braves passed him on and copped the flag. In 1916—but let's leave those unpleasant beholding scenes to the lord high ex-couturier.

Pure Plagiarism.

THE reason that the Cleveland Naps and the Cincinnati Reds are now battling for the world's cellar championship this year is the fear that they will be charged with stealing St. Louis' stuff.

Peace—Up to Date.

WHAT the Federal League wants above all things, is peace! Usually this is spelled "piece." The word applies to that portion of the general baseball receipts of which Organized Baseball is not disposed to let go.
 Can the Feds get it?
 Can a kitten drag a bone from the jaws of a bull terrier?

There are scores of small rooms offered every day among the Room for Rent ads in the Post-Dispatch Want Pages.

Organized Baseball Would Like Peace, but It Hasn't the (Feds') Price

Cards Open Against Cubs in Final Series Today; Sallee Slated to Work

With Harry Sallee on the hurling hill, the Cardinals today will begin at Robison Field a six-game series with the Cubs, a series that involves second and possibly third place. If King's men can take four of the six while the Giants are breaking even with Boston and Philadelphia, the Cards will finish second. Five defeats will land the Cards in fourth place.

Who Killed the Giant?

Who killed the Giant?
"I," said Hank Gowdy,
"Cause he was a rowdy;
I killed the Giant."

Who saw him die?
"I," said "Red" Smith,
"And that is no myth;
I saw him die."

Who caught his blood?
"I," said Moran,
"With my little pan;
I caught his blood."

Who'll dig his grave?
"I," said G. Stallings,
"That's one of my callings;
I'll dig his grave."

Who'll make his shroud?
"I," said George Whitted,
"He's easily fitted;
I'll make his shroud."

Who'll shave his mug?
"I will," said Cather,
"With my brush and lather,
I'll shave his mug."

Who'll bear the pall?
"I will," said Crutcher,
"Because I can clutch 'er;
I'll bear the pall."

Schmidt is "Idt."
"I will," said Schmidt,
"Just as soon as it's Idt.
I'll tote the light."

Who'll sing a psalm?
"I will," said Dea,
"Because I can squeal;
I'll sing a psalm."

Who'll tell the bell?
"I will," said Paul Strand,
"With the rope in his hand,
I'll toll the bell."

Who'll be chief mourner?
"I," said Devore,
"I have been there before;
I'll be chief mourner."

Who'll be the parson?
"I," said the "Crab",
"For, I'm there with the gab,
I'll be the parson."

All the fans in New York
Fell a-sobbing and a-sighing
And placed a large wreath
Where the Giant was lying.

The Tiger had a dark brown taste
After swallowing the Browns,
Wednesday. He couldn't hold 'em down.

As for us, we would prefer a nice Little local series without "Lord" Byron to a world's series with.

J. Carleton Only
St. Louisan Left in State Tourney

McCreey and Bonner Miller Eliminated in Early Rounds of Golf Event.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 2.—Although
St. Louis only has one entrant, J. L.
Carleton, left in the championship class of the annual amateur tournament of the Missouri Golf Association, in progress on the local Country Club's links, he has been playing a strong game and is picked as one of the real contenders for championship honors.

In the first round yesterday, Carleton's match with C. A. Cruikshank, the young Hannibal phenomenon, was one of the big surprises. The St. Louis man made a very good score but he was forced to go to his levellest to beat the youngster, winning 5 up and 2 to play. Cruikshank is out 12 years old and this is his first State tournament.

McCreey Is Put Out.
The hardest fought match of the round was that between Andrew Mc-Creey of the Triple A Club, St. Louis, and Dr. G. L. Miller of the Blue Hills
Golf Club, Kansas City. The St. Louis man finally losing out, 1 up 19 holes.

There was joy in the local camp when R.
L. McDonald Jr. of the St. Joseph Country Club, who has been playing one of the most consistent games of the tournament defeated "Ic" Hodges, reigning president of the association and State champion in 1911, in the second championship round, 5 up and 4 to play.

The other results in this round follow:
James Roberts, Kansas City Country Club, defeated A. H. Bausbach, St. Joseph Highlands Golf Club, 5 up and 1 to play.

Edwards of the Algonquin Club, 5 up and 2 to play, yesterday afternoon. Mrs.
Edwards' defeat came as a surprise.
She has turned in the best medal scores of the tourney and was defeating her opponents with ease. Yesterday she was outplayed at every stage of the game by Mrs. Ray.

Miss Kaiser, who got as far as the semi-final round in the women's Western tournament, found her real stride yesterday and easily defeated Mrs. F. E.
Newberry of Bellevue, 7 up and 6 to play.

Numerous matches were played in other classes of the tourney. Today will be an off day, and a special two-ball tourney has been arranged. Results in other classes are as follows:

Class A—Miss V. Brown defeated Mrs.
S. T. G. Smith, 4 up and 2; Mrs. G. E.
Switzer defeated Mrs. C. S. Chesbro, 6 up and 2.

Class B—Mrs. H. Boechler defeated Mrs.
G. C. Smith, 9 up and 1; Mrs. F. E. Ellis defeated Miss E. Jamison, 2 up and 2.

Consolation Class—Miss Ruth Brown defeated Mrs. C. W. Scudder, 4 up and 5;
Mrs. T. S. Stephens defeated Mrs. T. P.
Hais, 4 up and 5.

Hamilton Tames Tigers
With Three Hits; Browns
Off for Chicago Series

Earl Hamilton held the Tigers to three hits yesterday. Ty Cobb got two of these, a single and triple, but the Browns, by a savage attack on Dause, managed to win the farewell game, 3-2, much to the discomfort of the entire Cardinal team.

Rickey's men ran wild on the bases was Roger Brubaker. All the other Cubs

acting for the world like a championship ball club. They swiped nine bases, made as many hits and scored six runs.
The Browns left last night for Chicago, where they will play a four-game series with the White Sox. If they break even they will finish the season in fifth place, while the loss of three games may drop them back to seventh place, as the Yankees still are close behind.

DIAMOND GLINTS.
Among those present at Sportman's Park
was Roger Brubaker. All the other Cubs and all the Cardinals, not to mention a squadron of minor leaguers, failed to swell

the attendance to 800.

In an interleague series between the championship St. Louis team and Kansas City, the Blues won yesterday, 4-3.

Emmie Klein banished the whole squad of Quint beach, winners in the recent series of yesterday's game. If the Federal League didn't exist, McGraw could do worse than that. Johnny I. probably would be pitched for what he thinks about the Cubs.

THE JARR FAMILY

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By ROY L. MCCARDELL

Mr. Jarr Buys a New "Sir Salamander" Hat

"SHOOT the hat!" It was the mocking voice of John W. Rangle, but Mr. Jarr, turning around apprehensively, was relieved to observe his friend was not bearing arms. "Of course, 'Shoot the hat' is simply an expression," continued Mr. Rangle, as he overtook Mr. Jarr, and thus was able to continue insulting his old pal without having his voice cracking under the strain. "It's the sink who wears a hat like that who ought to be shot."

"The sink that makes such personal remarks is generally half shot," remarked Mr. Jarr, and he sniffed significantly.

"Aw, knock, knock," growled Mr. Rangle. "It's only chewing gum flavored with extract of cloves. You're as bad as the dames, making your knobby about drinking, when a man is as innocent as a babe-only chewing gum, clove flavored, I tell you."

"Clove flavored chewing gum, a boon to boozers, eh?" replied Mr. Jarr. "I notice you are very free with your banal witticisms directed at my new hat, but when I make any allusion to your bad habits you emit a few shrieks of protest."

"Aw, a little kidding about a hat ain't no harm, but it doesn't do a fellow any good making those cracks about boozing. Whadda, yah mean referring to me as a 'barroom patriot' when I was saying we could whip the world, at Gus' the other night?"

"That isn't quoting me correctly," returned Mr. Jarr, for Mr. Rangle's strictures regarding the new hat, especially as Mr. Jarr loathed the shape and color himself, still rankled.

"Well, you said something," growled Mr. Rangle. "And I want to know what it was."

"I said that those barroom patriots who were always bragging we could whip the world generally went home and whipped their wives as their share of it."

"Ed Jarr," said Mr. Rangle, solemnly, "did you ever hear people making a silly comparison that the accomplishment of this thing or that was 'as easy as taking candy from a child'?"

"Sure. It's a common expression," replied Mr. Jarr.

"Did YOU ever try to TAKE any candy from a child?" asked Mr. Rangle, earnestly. "And I tell you these remarks about whipping a wife are equally as futile and in as bad taste. It CAN'T be done. If you can't beat them in an argument, how do you ever expect to win by a tour de force or a coup de grace or handing them a wallop?"

"Edward Jarr," continued John W. Rangle, solemnly, "you walk abroad in all the sinful splendor of a new dollar and a half hat, but let me warn you, NEVER start any sort of a skirmish with friend wife-you never win a battle!"

"Here, you!" cried Mr. Jarr angrily, for Mr. Rangle stalked away after delivering the gipsy's warning. "Here, you! This isn't a $1.50 hat!"

"It looks good enough to be, but have it your own way. I didn't know the 5 and 10 cent stores had opened gent's hat departments," and Mr. Rangle hurried away.

"I feel a nerve! 'Wow, it's a $5 hat! Yes, sir, a $5 hat!'" cried Mr. Jarr aloud. But as no one was within hearing, he took it off and looked at the new hat again and muttered, "at least the clerk said it couldn't be told from a $6 hat!"

But when he got home Mrs. Jarr received the new hat with so much dejection-yes, it was a taper crown Sir Salamander-that Mr. Jarr hadn't the effrontery to stand by his original plan of duplicity against the family finances and even it cost even $1. He grumbled something about it being a hat for $2, and handed over the correct change from the $5 Mrs. Jarr had advanced him, that the good lady made no demonstration in force when he strolled out to Gus' after supper.

"Hullo, halloo!" cried Gus when he got sight of the pale blue Sir Salamander. "If you knowed how becoming that hat was you'd throw it away!"

HITS FROM SHARP WITS.

There are times when an unguarded tongue is far more dangerous than an unguarded frontier.

A dye famine is feared. And so the cost of dyeing is to be added to the high cost of living—Baltimore American.

Anybody who knows anything about a family fight should know enough to remain strictly neutral—Nashville Banner.

If the girl is beautiful the man will listen with patience to her silly talk, but if she is homely he expects her to say something worth while.

Many men are still of the opinion that the ideal way to fight the battles of the world is with one elbow on the bar-rail, within sound of the soft, whirling notes of the electric fan, Toledo Blade.

"Her appearance is as fresh as a young schoolgirl's."

"Yes—but it's all put on."

Double Purpose.

I WANT some wire netting to keep mosquitoes out of the house," said the suburbanite.

"How about this?" asked the clerk as he displayed a sample.

"The mesh is too coarse," said the customer. "I may also want to use it for chickens."

No Place for Doctors.

HEALTHY," said the proud resident. "I should say this town is healthy. Why, there's only been one death here in 10 years."

"Indeed?" replied the visitor. "And may I ask who it was that died?"

"Our doctor," he died of starvation."

The Alternatives.

I'VE got to choose between paying my doctor and keeping up my life insurance policy. I haven't enough money for both.

"Stand off the M. D.; if your policy lapses you'll die sure."

Rather Warm Retort

THE Widow Teeter's husband had been dead only a few weeks when there were surface indications that she was about to marry again.

The late Mr. Teeter had not been exactly a model husband, and it was the general opinion that his death was a stroke of good fortune for Mrs. Teeter, but still the relatives of the deceased thought that his memory required a widowhood of at least a year.

When the indications of the approaching marriage became apparent, some of her late husband's friends waited on Mrs. Teeter, and one of them said:

"We hear that you are about to marry again, Lucy Ann?"

"Well, I don't know that it is any of your business," replied Lucy Ann, "but if it will give you any satisfaction to know the facts, I don't mind telling you that I shall be a married woman again in about two weeks."

"But Tom has been dead less than three months," protested another.

"Well, I suppose he's as dead as he ever will be, isn't he?"

"But," said a third, "you ought in common decency to wait until it's cold."

"Wait until Tom Teeter is cold," repeated the widow, with fire in her eye. "If your 'tological belief is orthodox, you must know that Tom Teeter hasn't a ghost of a show of ever getting cold."

Then the objecting relatives fled out and Mrs. Teeter resumed the work of preparing her trousseau.

No Great Trick.

ONE evening a man was performing the old trick of producing eggs from a pocket-handkerchief, when he remarked to a little boy in the front row:

"Say, my boy, your mother can't get eggs without hens, can she?"

"Of course she can," replied the boy.

"Why, how is that?" asked the conjuror.

"She keeps ducks."

Auto Ailments.

BROTHER JIM has the automobile faco. Joe has the motor bike back and Sister Sue has the auto-speed crane.

"Any other automobile ailments in your family?"

"Well, papa says he has the automobile pocketbook, and it's badly punctured."

A Fable

A FOX who had never yet seen a lion, when he fell in with one, by a certain chance, for the first time in the forest, was so frightened that he was near dying with fear.

On his meeting him for the second time, he was still much alarmed, but not to the same extent as at first.

On seeing him the third time, he so increased in boldness that he went up to him and spoke as follows:

"Hello, Whiskers-on-the-Neck; how goes it, old sport?"

The king of beasts raised his front left paw and upper-cut the fox on the jugular, and he hasn't done anything since.

Moral: Don't get fresh.

The Chief Trouble.

THE gloomy amateur aviator was surveying the aeroplane in which he had intended to take a ride.

"Wh-ew!" exclaimed an admiring friend who had just dropped in at the hangar, "that's a peach of a machine. There's no flies on that aeroplane."

"Nope," was the answer. "That's what's the matter with it."

Life in the Suburbs.

"I am going to write a book about my life in the country," said a man.

"What will you call it?"

"The trains I have missed."
